Bowser's Newest Bag

By FRANK LAPIERRE

It looks like bowser bags will soon be all the rage in Daly City — especially if you happen to have a "bowser" in the family.

Monday, the city, in its latest move to curb a rising incidence of dog problems, proposed that dog owners immediately clean up any mess left by their dogs on public rights-of-way and private property.

The stiff new ordinance is scheduled to become effective n July.

It would not apply where owners exercise pets on their own land or private property where permission has been granted.

To police the dog control law, Daly City will hire one-half a humane officer on a contract with the San Mateo County Humane society at a cost of some $9,000 for the first year.

Any person receiving a citation for violation of the law would be required to post $25, which would be forfeitable even if the dog was left to his fate at the dog pound.

If an unleashed dog is picked up wandering the city streets the owner may be liable for larger fines.

In some cases, such as those involving vicious dogs, the owner must post bail and appear in court. The bail could not be forfeited in such cases, according to the proposed ordinance.

One section of the new law dictates that every person walking a dog must carry a receptacle to clean up any mess.

In expanding the nuisance provisions of the City Code, City Atty. Albert Polonsky recommended that persons not allow "their dog to excrete on the public right-of-way or on private property of others . . ."

Once enacted, this section would require owners to carry receptacles to use as needed.

Another recommendation, this one by the county manager's office, would double dog and cat license fees effective Jan. 1, 1972, from $4 to $8 for both male and female dogs. Cat licenses would jump to $4 from $2.

Recent findings disclosed that the Humane Society already realizes some $17,600 per year from pet licenses in Daly City.

Some residents attending the Monday study session objected to the substantial increase.

The matter will come up for public hearings later this year, according to a city official.

Meanwhile, the license fee portion of the law has been shelved.

Ban on Bottles, Cans Shelved by SSF Council

By ROBERT PETERSON

The death knell has been sounded on South San Francisco's controversial ordinance to ban non-returnable bottles and cans, as far as proponents of the ordinance are concerned.

Councilmen Monday voted 3-2 to establish a 90-day moratorium, setting the ordinance date back from July 1 to October 1.

Proponents of the ordinance feel, however, that further delays will be forthcoming at the end of 90 days.

Mayor William Borba appointed Councilman Frank Bertucelli as chairman of a committee to be composed of proponents and opponents to further study alternatives to the ordinance.

The mayor, Councilman Bertucelli and Councilman Patrick Ahern voted for the moratorium. Councilmen Frank Mammini and Warren Steinkamp voted against it. All had voted in favor of the original ordinance.

Gene Mullin, ecology teacher who paced a youth drive for the ordinance said, "We are afraid, justifiably, that this committee will be stacked.

Mullin cited as the reason for his concern the fact that the matter came up unexpectedly at the council meeting tw weeks ago.

He said he took the initiative Monday to call the mayor for a meeting.

"Had I not called when I did, no proponents would have known the ordinance was to be discussed."

Mullin also made a point of the fact that some half-a-dozen bottle, can and packaging industry representatives were on hand at the meeting two weeks ago, yet none of the high school youths were contacted.

City Manager Gale Dreisbach said calls went out to everyone Monday morning, but said he didn't know who was or wasn't called.

"It is not only strange, but incomprehensible that you could reach industry and not the local high school," said Mullin. "This leads one to feel something was in the wind a little before that Monday and leaves me to question the veracity of the council."

Councilmen Steinkamp and Mammini said they had not been contacted about the fact the ordinance was going to be on the agneda that Monday night two weeks ago either.

Lively Chamber Debate in D.C. Over a Name

A lively debate was started on Thursday at a meeting of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce when it was suggested "Colma" be dropped from the title. At one point in the pro and con battle over the name change, Westlake Shopping Center owner and Board Director James Trevor, threatened to mount a campaign aimed at having stores within his shopping center quit the chamber unless the name, Colma, was chopped off.

Westlake Shopping Center has some 60 stores in its complex.

Vince Merlo, president of the Mission Street Merchants Association and also a Chamber director, scolded proponents of the plan for being shortsighted.

Merlo said sections of Colma are now coming alive with new business and that these businesses might be receptive to joining the chamber. He strongly advised his fellow directors to investigate the matter thoroughly before cutting Colma loose.

But Trevor argued these new businesses were threatening Daly City businesses, including his own, and offering stiff competition in some fields to the newer Serramonte Center.

With tempers rising Merlo asked: "Would changing the name (on the Chamber) eliminate this competition?"

Until several years ago the organization was titled "Daly City Chamber of Commerce." Through the efforts of Elio Fontana, a Colma monument maker, the name of Colma was tacked onto the title.

Since then only a scattering of Colma businesses have participated in chamber activities.

And while Daly City city hall financially aids the chamber to the tune of some $6,700 each year, Colma offers only $250.

Fontana, attending the directors' meeting Thursday, said he felt Colma should be included in the Chamber only if that city contributes a minimum of $1,000 per year, and its growing business community becomes involved with the Chamber's many functions.

The key word is "involvement" and Colma has failed to involve itself with the chamber in past years, Trevor said.

Daly City accountant Alfred Belotz said that if Colma were growing into a thriving business area "it should perhaps form its own chamber of commerce."

He agreed with Trevor that money was not a key issue in the argument.

Proponents of the plan to change the title say Colma business has received much publicity at the expense of Daly City. They want this trend to change.

Director Edward Morgan informed the group that legislation has been moving toward forcing areas, such as unincorporated Colma, into established cities.

The two cities have always "sort of tied together" in many civic and social functions, Chamber manager Peter J. Markovich said.

He did not throw his support either way in the talks, which were shelved until the June meeting of the Board.

A Posh Facility in D.C.?

A restroom facility to be built at the site of a Daly City bocci ball court on Market Street may be one of the poshest conveniences of its kind in the county.

To date, the lowest bid for construction of the restroom, which will include facilities for both men and women plus a storage office, was from the H. E. Rahlmann Company which offered to get to work on the project for $11,758.

Cost of the two bocci ball courts built last year using city workers was $1,241.42.

City Manager David Rowe said "we are taking a look at (the bid) before making any recommendations.

Attorney Chosen for D.C. Board

Attorney Victor G. Kyriakis was appointed by the Daly City City Council Monday to replace Mel Taylor on the city's planning commission.

Taylor will leave his post on August 10.

Kyriakis has lived in the Westlake section of the city with his wife, Stella, for the past ten years.

Split May Be Worked Out on Tourist Bureau, Fair

Separation of tourism and convention promotion from the activities of the county fair is scheduled to be worked out at a meeting of city and county officials Thursday.

Representatives of the 12 San Mateo County cities that levy a hotel-motel room occupancy tax and participate in a county-wide promotion program have been invited by Chairman James V. Fitzgerald to attend the dinner meeting at Bob's On Broadway.

A tentative plan for establishment of a new Tourist and Convention Association has been worked out in a series of meeting during the past several months. Fitzgerald said the meetings were called because the key cities with the majority of hotel and motel rooms want more of a voice in promotional activities than they got at present. Thse activities are presently combined with fairground activities in a single organization, the San Mateo County Fair and Convention Association, which has a single board of directors and staff.

Fitzgerald identified the key citices as San Mateo, Millbrae, South San Francisco, Daly City, Redwood City and Burlingame.

At the last study meeting it was reported that representatives of each of the cities with the exception of Daly City reached a consensus on the establishment of a new association under a separate board of directors. As worked out, the board would have 19 members, including one each from six major contributing cities, three representing the remaining cities, five representing the county, three from the Hotel and Restaurant Owners Association and two from the Fair Board.

When the program was started in 1968 the county proposed that the cities contribute 25 per cent of their room occupancy tax revenues to the county promotion fund, and that the county contribute all of its income from the unincorporated area. Tax levies in the cities vary between 4 and 5 per cent. The county tax is 4 per cent of room cost. Some cities agreed to yay 25 per cent. A few, however, set a ceiling on their annual contribution and that has worked out to be less than 25 per cent in cany cases. Others have paid only a flat annual amount.

It is expected that there will be an attempt at the Thursday meeting to work out some standardized method of contributing to the central fund.

Small Turnout at Daly City Summer Youth Job Meeting

What was called a "disappointing turnout" of local businessmen showed up for a summer youth job breakfast meeting in Daly City Friday.

Mayor Bernard J. Lycett said he could not conceive why only a half dozen businessmen and a scattering of civic leaders and officials attended the 8 a.m. meeting.

"At this rate we never will find sufficient jobs for youth," one official said.

The summer work program force has set 300 jobs as its target for this year about the same as last year.

To date some 150 jobs have been secured for youths from low income families who want to work during their vacation in order to buy clothing and school supplies for the next school season.

Mike Orlich, Work Experience Program Coordinator for the Jefferson Union High School District, also expressed disappointment at the poor turnout.

He asked that a campaign be launched to attract others to the breakfast scheduled for Friday, May 28, at 7:30 a.m. at Lyons Restaurant.

The JUHSD superintendent Ed Morgan noted that the school has budgeted some $10,000 for the youth program this year. Daly City has come up with 30 job slots, according to city manager David Rowe.

Midway through the breakfast, accountant Alfred Belotz presented information and Referral Center executive director Marion Goodwin with a $750 check from the Daly City Rotary Club — $250 more than last year.

Pacifica, Jeff High Ask YSB Evaluation

City of Pacifica and Jefferson Union High School District officials want written evaluations on the work of the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau.

Representatives to the bureau from City Council and the Board of Trustees Monday were directed to seek the evaluations to be sent to all participants.

The council members and the trustees were meeting jointly in the Oceana High School Library for discussion on the civic center agreement, the Terra Nova baseball field, future school-city joint projects and the Youth Service Bureau.

The bodies informally agreed to dedicate the Terra Nova baseball field, currently being constructed, to the memory of the late James M. Cooper, a longtime trustee and Pacifica civic leader.

The council also expressed an interest in the financing of the Westmoor swimming pool, and the agreements involved between the City of Daly City and JUHSD. The Pacificans indicated they might consider a similar arrangement for a pool at Oceana.

San Bruno's Newspaper Fire-Bombed

The weekly newspaper in San Bruno was fire bombed early on Monday and a 17-year-old arrested in connection with the incident.

Police said there was very slight damage to the building. Booked for possession of a fire bomb, arson and possession of marijuana was Darrell L. Bennight of 2320 Princeton Drive.

Officer George Sachtleben reported that he saw a car driven by Bennight coming out of a real alley at about 1 a.m. Its lights were out, police said.

The officer stopped the vehicle to ask why the lights were out. At about that time Officer Kenneth Snodgrass saw a ball of flame on top of the San Bruno Herald building.

Police called the fire department who responded immediately to put out the small blaze.

Authorities said the fire was started by a molotov cocktail They said they found a printed message left at the scene. It read: "Print the truth. Power to the people."

Bennight has been released to the custody of juvenile authorities pending a hearing.

Mental Health Support by SSF Council

A resolution supporting retention of the present county mental health standards, and in particular services for North County residents, was adopted by South San Francisco councilmen Monday.

Dion Dubois, member of the steering committee of the North County Citizens Advisory Committee for Mental Health Services, said he feared planned cuts from the county budget would jeopardize not only the present, but future programs, and means loss of future state and federal funding.

The Mental Health Services will meet at the North County Mental Health Center at 115 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The crisis in mental health care will be the main topic.

Initial discussion will center on children's services at the center.

Bill Supported By Councilmen

South San Francisco councilmen Monday endorsed legislation introduced by Senator Alan Cranston requiring retrofiting of engines to suppress the noise on present jet transport airport.

45 Pct. of Millbrae Youths Tried Drugs

In Millbrae, at the junior and high school level, about 45 per cent of the students have tried, or are using drugs now.

That's the opinion expressed by Officer Mike Parker of the Millbrae Police Department's Juvenile Division. He stated it recently at Taylor School, before an audience comprised of both students and adults. His appearance was one of a series of eight discussions of the use and abuse of tobacco, alcohol and drugs, presented at the school from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Wednesdays, under the coordination of Paul Hoag, seventh grade science teacher at Taylor.

"Scare tactics don't work," the policeman said, "I tell the facts."

And he did. He brought with him not only a graphic chart, but actual samples of various drugs, drug paraphernalia confiscated from persons arrested with it in their possession, and a downright approach to the law and the illegal use of drugs.

Most of the questions fielded to him came from the students, seventh and eighth graders, who had first viewed two movies regarding drug abuse. Their questions were succinct: "Can you bust a guy if you think you smell marijuana on him?" Answer, "No, more conclusive evidence would be needed to stand up in court."

"How can you tell if a kid is using drugs legally of illegally around the school?" Answer, "If it was by prescription, the principal and teacher would have signed slips from the doctor and the parent."

When asked if he felt the use of marijuana should be legalized, the officer was adamantly negative. "There is absolutely no reason to add this to our

8 Injured in Three-Car Serra Crash

Eight persons were injured, including 3-year-old twin brothers, in a broadside accident on Interstate Route 280 at the Intersection of Sneath Lane in San Bruno.

The accident occurred, according to Highway Patrolmen Dale B. Chesley and Larry A. Osborn, when a southbound vehicle driven by Richard Ortiz, 30, an upholsterer of 473 Baden Avenue, South San Francisco, turned left into the path of two oncoming cars.

The drivers of both other vehicles were hurt. They were Michael Eugene Rolfer, 22, a San Francisco photographer, and John B. Jamieson, 40, a San Francisco banker.

Ortiz and one of his 3-year-old twin sons, Richard Ortiz Jr., were injured when they were thrown from their auto, and admitted to Mary's Help Hospital.

Others injured were Marvel Ortiz, 25; Ira Joe Ortiz, 3, taken to Mary's Help Hospital; Mallory Rolfer, 21, and John Margowa, 44, of San Francisco, a passenger in Jamieson's auto, both taken to Peninsula Hospital.

4 Arrested in Daly City

Four persons were arrested in the Crocker Hills section of Daly City on Sunday and charged with possession of hashhish and marijuana.

Officer Terry Hanebeck said he was on routine patrol in the area about 2 p.m. when he saw a man leap from a parked car and dispose of what later was identified as some four ounces of hashhish and a "lid" of marijuana.

Arrested was Glenn Labor, 23, 41 Shakespear Street; Thomas Stovall, 21, 41 Shakespear Street; Alroy Martens, 20, stationed abooard the U.S.S. Coral Sea, and, Terrance Murphy, 20, of Petaluma.

Pacifica Woman Is Taken to S.M. Hospital After Struggle

A 45-year-old Pacifica woman on Monday when the car they munity Hospital, San Mateo, Sunday after she reportedly tried to resist questioning by Pacifica police.

Police said that Officers Ted Kendrick and Ed Boll escaped injury in the incident which involved the suspect, Mrs. Muriel Veronica O'Conner, 775 Claridge Drive.

Police told this story:

The patrolmen responded to a citizen's complaint involving Mrs. O'Conner, who was first sighted by citizens running in the area of Westview Park. The officers, however, found her sitting in her car, which was parked in front of her home.

Officer Kendrick said he tried to talk her into getting out of the car. She rolled down the car window on the driver's side, but refused to get out.

She then became enraged and started the vehicle. Kendrick reached inside the Volkswagen bus to get the keys and to stop the engine, while Patrolman Boll attempted to disable the rear motor.

Mrs. O'Conner assertedly backed up the vehicle, nearly pinning Boll between her vehicle and a parked car.

Then, she moved forward, increasing speed while Officer Kendrick still tried to grab the keys from the ignition.

A third Pacifica patrolman, Dale Wong, arrived shortly after Boll radioed for assistance. Wong came alongside the O'Conner vehicle. Mrs. O'Conner reportedly swung the bus to the left, Kendrick still running alongside.

The bus finally was stopped after she allegedly hit Wong's patrol vehicle twice.

According to police, the suspect was charged with assault with a deadly weapon (her auto).

At Chope Community Hospital, she is being observed on a 72-hour psychiatric hold.

Pair Hurt in Accident

Two young men were injured this morning when the car they were riding in slammed into one of the huge eucalyptus trees lining El Camino Real in Burlingame.

Police said there was no apparent reason for the 1:30 a.m. crash in which William B. McKinley, and James W. Linderman were injured.

McKinley, 20, of 721 Walnut Avenue, Burlingame, and Linderman, 21, of 1205 Cortez Avenue, were both taken to Mills Memorial Hospital, San Mateo.

Officer Wayne South said McKinley appeared to have been driving the 1963 station wagon, northbound on El Camino, when it left the roadway and hit the tree. There were no skid marks, he said.

Hotel Rooms Vandalized

Two South San Francisco hotels had some unwanted guests over the past weekend.

The guests registered and left — but they did so after ransacking their rooms.

Police said they believe the same persons who ransacked a room at the Imperial 400 Hotel Saturday morning later that day hit the International Inn with the same method of operation.

According to police a man and a woman in their late 20's registered at the Imperial 400 on Friday evening. Saturday morning the maid came to the room and found it had been ransacked.

Items missing included the television set, sheets and other bed clothes, even the money from the bedside massage unit.

Later that day, a couple police believe may be the same persons registered at the International Inn. When the maid went to the roon to clean up, she found similar circumstances.

Missing was the bed clothes, towels, a coffee pot, television set, and (ready for this) two hanging lights.

Water Main Breaks at Airport

A broken water main at San Francisco International Airport yesterday left thousands of visitors without any public toilet facilities for several hours.

The trouble began about 9 a.m., airport spokesman Ben Gaines reports, when a main line was broken during work on a tunnel in the new terminal building construction.

Water pressure gradually dropped from a normal 110 pounds, to a low level of 30 pounds per square inch, until repaired.

The drop in water pressure also resulted in admitting a great deal of sediment into the system, and every water closet, valve, and faucet in the huge building had to be cleaned out, before being used again.

Peak of the problem was at about 5 p.m., said Gaines, but troubles lasted for nearly ten hours due to the number of devices which had to be cleaned out.

DC-Colma CofC Opposes Bill

Legislation that would curtail extension of Bay Area Rapid Transit District service on the Peninsula is being opposed by the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber Board of Directors voted almost unanimously to urge the state legislature to reject the bill authored by Senator John A. Nejedly (R-Walnut Creek).

The lone dissenting vote was by director James Trevor, owner of the Westlake Shopping Center.

Trevor said the board's action would indicate the Chamber endorsed the system on the Peninsula.

But Daly City Mayor Bernard J. Lycett argued the move simply would keep the proposal of Peninsula transit alive and not make it a "dead issue."

The Nejedly Bill passed the senate last week 27-4 with opposition registered by Senators Arlen Gregorio (D-San Mateo), Milton Marks and George Moscone of San Francisco, and James Whetmore of La Habra.

Lycett said he felt the bill was aimed directly at San Mateo County.

He said "it is understandable" that residents of the three original BART counties (Alameda, San Francisco and Contra Costa) want their system complete before extending into "outside" areas.

However, Lycett and others pointed out that experts have indicated the future growth of San Francisco Airport is dependent on the transit system.

Unless the airport keeps pace with the increasing air passenger load Oakland Airport may surpass San Francisco's volume.

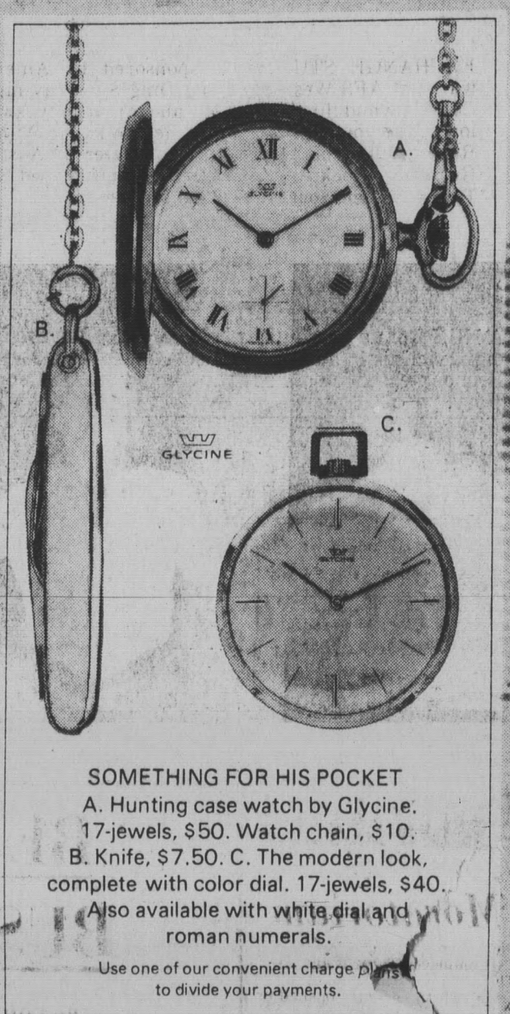

The mayor felt the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors should "get into the act" to have the bill killed in the Assembly.

"After all, this is directed at the entire county," Lycett said.

Director Frank (Toto) Spadarella agreed the Chamber should make it known the bill is being opposed. "Otherwise they'll give it their stamp of approval (in the Assembly)," he said.

Jobless Man Kills Self

Brisbane police found the body of a young Daly City man slumped over the wheel of his car on a little used dirt road in that city about 5 p.m. Monday.

The man, later identified as Jack J. Haley, 29, had been shot in the head with a .32-caliber handgun.

Haley, son of Daly City city employe Jack Haley, had lived at 237 Second Street, Daly City.

He had recently applied for a visa to work in Australia and had recently graduated from an electronics engineering course.

A spokesman for the San Mateo Coroner's Office said the victim had been despondent over failure to find suitable employment.

A Half Moon Bay Paint-In Amid Rock Band Music

With rock band music loud enough to rattle windows and a small army of volunteer workers walking in all directions, the eagerly awaited Half Moon Bay Paint-In was carried out over the weekend.

The object is to make the three-quarter-mile strip of Main Street through downtown Half Moon Bay a nice place to look at and perhaps draw some business.

This, the city Main Street Beautification Committee decided last fall, can be done with a Paint-In, with fresh paint of compatible hues all down the street. Shopping centers do it, they reasoned, so why can't it be that way downtown?

The result was that perhaps 100 volunteer painters Saturday descended on everything a soldier wouldn't salute and put on a fresh coat of whatever paint the plan called for.

They finished yesterday afternoon, leaving Main Street much brighter.

Pacifican Drowns in River

A 35-year-old Pacifica warehouseman drowned Saturday in one of the Russian River resort area's most popular fishing and swimming holes.

Jethro Harris of 415 Heathcliff Drive was swimming in Browns' Pool at Monte Rio when he disappeared from sight. He was not having any apparent problem, according to Sonoma County Sheriff's Sgt. Joe Aleksick at the Guerneville substation.

Harris' wife, Barbara Jean, 30, reported the drowning at 6 p.m. Saturday. The body was recovered shortly before noon Sunday from the pool, one of the deepest in the Russian River, Sgt. Aleksick said.

The Harrises were visiting for the weekend.

Officer Parker speaks to many youth groups, upon request.

Next sessions in the smoking, alcohol and drug seminar will be held at Taylor School on May 12 and 19, devoted to teachers' ideas on handling the problem; the final session on May 26 will summarize the meetings.

Pride, which recently opened up six centers on the Peninsula, including one at South San Francisco High School.

Being supported financially by industry, the centers were set up as an interim program to meet the ecology need, and replace the ordinance, until an answer to growing disposal problems can be found.

Community Pride President Chuck Schmidt said the center at South San Francisco High school is a dismal failure. Schmidt said he wouldn't hesitate to pull the center out of its present location if it doesn't show some good results.

South San Francisco High School students said they had placed a petition at the center which said the ordinance was a necessary step beyond the center. They said that 116 persons brought goods to the center and 110 signed the petition.

Typical of the youth versus establishment point of view was an exchange between Bud Getchel, representing a soft drink firm and Bob Bowen, one of the youth originating the ordinance.

"I'm not against ecology. I merely want to sell Dr. Pepper. It makes no difference how, I just want to sell it," said Getchel.

Bowen replied that "if he is going to mess up my world, and in order to stop it he'll have to go out of business, I'm afraid that's what it's going to come to."

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY

The Federal Trade Commission has charged Standard Oil Company of California with "misleading advertising." According to the Commission, the claims on nationwide television and radio commercials and other news media, that Chevron Gasoline with F-310 additive (trademark for Polybutene amine gasoline detergent) reduces air pollution are not true.

The Federal Trade Commission also announced its intention to issue a complaint against Standard Oil and its advertising agency, Batten, Barton, Durstein and Osborn, Inc., of New York, charging violation of law.

In addition to prohibiting the alleged misleading advertising, the proposed complaint would require that any gasoline advertised by Standard Oil would clearly and conspicously disclose that the FTC had found the previous advertising for Chevron with F-310, contained false, misleading and deceptive statements, representations and demonstrations and that the products did not reduce air pollution.

Mrs. Koskowski Resigns Bruno School Post

San Bruno Park School District Trustee, now Councilwoman, Margaret Koskowski has resigned her 11-year position with the school district.

Mrs. Koskowski won a position on the city council during the recent recall election that ousted Ted Long and Dick Griffith. Tony Governale replaced Long in that election.

"It is with a great deal of mixed emotions that I find it necessary at this time to submit my resignation from the San Bruno Park Board of Trustees," said her letter of resignation to Supt. George Lawry, who incidentally, is retiring as of June 30.

Mrs. Koskowski said "a very heavy schedule between city hall and the school office deem it advisable for me to leave the board."

During her quest for the city council seat this fact of dual representation became a hotly contested issue. She initially contended she could and would serve on both bodies. Later she changed this stand to say that she would remain on the school board until Lawry had been replaced. The district's Associate Supt. William Jennings takes over July 1.

Mrs. Koskowski said she was submitting her resignation now so the county and school district can begin arrangements for an election in September to seek her replacement.

"I shall serve at your discretion for as long as you feel my presence on the board would be a benefit to you as a body," she said.

Committee OK for Ryan Bill

The question of education experimentation and controversial "voucher system" passed its first hurdle May 11, when the Assembly Education Commitee approved AB 150, Assemblyman Leo Ryan's (D-So. S.F.) voucher demonstration project bill.

Ryan, in presenting the bill to the committee, said it would offer four school districts in the state the chance to use available Office of Economic Opportunity funds to try out the experimental program.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO'S Pentecost Festival, or Chamarita, was celebrated on Sunday. Above, diners ate the traditional "sopa," a free meal signifying the end of a famine in the Azores centuries ago. Some 2300 pounds of beef, 232 loaves of bread and five crates of cabbage were prepared for the meal, held at Santo Christo Hall. Some 3500 persons were fed. In photo below, Festival Queen Odette Santos, right, of San Mateo, is given a miniature statue of Santo Christo by Antoinette Hartman of Burlingame, last year's queen, to carry from city hall along the parade route to Mater Dolorosa Church for the Festival mass.

D.C. Fire Guts Room

A ground floor bedroom of a Serramonte subdivision home was gutted by fire Wednesday.

Daly City firemen said they did not know how the blaze started in the George Ferraez home at 4541 Callan boulevard.

Ferraez said his brother occupied the room but had not been home since 6:45 a.m. The fire was reported by Mrs. Ferraez at 4:44 p.m.

Rock Garden Plan for Giant Quarry

How the huge PCA quarry near Brisbane is to be transformed into a giant rock garden was described to the County Planning Commission Wednesday.

Douglas Baylis, landscape architect retained by Pacific Cement and Aggregates Company, submitted a five-year plan for restoration of the quarry site as it is being phased out.

On the basis of that, and a statement that the ultimate use of the site after the quarry is shut down will be as an extension of the Crocker Industrial Park, the commission renewed the quarry permit until January of 1972.

PCA officials have announced that their lease with the owner, Crocker Land Company, expires in 1976 and that it will not be renewed.

Brisbane city officials tried to persuade the county and the courts last year to close the quarry down because of dust and truck damage to city streets. A compromise was worked out, however, and the council agreed to allow the quarry to continue to operate for the remainder of its lease period.

Baylis described the quarry as a 100-acre man-made wonder with vertical walls as high as 450 feet. His landscaping plan, he said, is to employ special grading, seeding, planting and fertilizing techniques to help nature do the job of restoring natural vegetation — grass, weeds, wildflowers, shrubs and small trees. Some of the rock-floored terraces in the quarry, stripped of all soil, will not be re-planted, Baylis said.

"We might as well pretend it's the surface of the moon and enjoy it," he said.

He added that he hopes to develop some water springs to create waterfalls on the quarry walls.

S.S.F. Search Continues for Youths

The search continues for two South San Francisco boys wanted for questioning in connection with the death of a 17-year-old sister of one of the youths.

Police said they spent several hours last week searching the North County with the aid of a Sheriff's Department helicopter for Robert Vernal Anderson, 15, the dead girl's brother, and Jerald Carl Clymo, 14, a companion.

Although a statewide bulletin has been issued in the search for the youths, police said they have reason to believe the boys are still in the Bay Area.

The girl, who died of apparent strangulation, was found by the mother, Mrs. Carolyn Rhodes, beneath a bed Friday night. A short time before that police learned that the father, Clark Rhodes, had returned home from work and saw the boys in the house.

Gavel Changes Hands

Mrs. Kathryn Glebow will give the Mary's Help Hospital Guild's presidential gavel to Mrs. Evelyn Fitzgerald Friday.

Mrs. Glebow is completing her term in office after an extremely successful year, which was culminated earlier this month by the Fuchsia Ball. An enviable record of fund raising events as well as an impressive tally of volunteer services was achieved during the year which saw a significant expansion of the volunteer program.

Fund raising events included the October cocktail party, the fall games luncheon, the Christmas card sale, the Boutique de Noel, the Christmas cocktail party, the Day at the Races and a Lasagna luncheon in April.

The Daughters of Charity are in charge of the installation and award breakfast to follow a mass at 9 a.m. in the hospital chapel.

Those being installed with Mrs. Fitzgerald are Mrs. Millie Dunow, vice president; Mrs. Mary Short, recording secretary; Mrs. Barbara Cardinalli, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mariee McClory, treasurer and the members of the board of directors, Mrs. Barbara Castello, Mrs. Joanne Coniglio and Mrs. Pat Lindsay.

According to Mrs. Mangini, all guild members are urged to attend the final activity of the season and, she emphasized, guests are welcome at the breakfast.

THE SECOND INSTALLATION slated for this weekend will take place on Sunday at the Olympic Club.

Mrs. Francis Kelly indicated that the Eighteenth Annual Westlake Catholic Women's Installation Breakfast will take place following the 9 a.m. Mass at the Our Lady of Mercy church.

Mrs. Sal Parise, spiritual director, is chairman of the installation and co-chairman is Mrs. Frank Corbelli.

Retiring president Mrs. Frank Lawon will install Mrs. Eugene Bertorelli as the new president during the 10 a.m. ceremony. Others being installed with Mrs. Bertorelli are Mrs. John Kachur, vice president; Mrs. Clyde Silverthorn, first director; Mrs. Francis Kelly, second director; Mrs. John Breslin, third director; Mrs. William Rueter, fourth director;

Mrs. Williiam Arata, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Muhlbach, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Peter Balestrieri, ACCW representative; Mrs. Sal Parise, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Gianfermo, publicity and Mrs. Harry Lindner, historian.

Mrs. Vincent Hussey is in charge of the hostess committee for the installation. Hostesses who will great guests at the Olympic Club are Mrs. James Barnett, Mrs. Peter Bistolfi, Mrs. Robert Newman, Mrs. Andrew Skirra and Mrs. Anthony Zidich.

Tickets for the breakfast are available to anyone calling Mrs. Josephy Hayden at 755-2148.

SURPRISE WILL BE THE ORDER of the day as guests rendezvous at an undisclosed locale to fete outgoing president of the Holy Angels Women's Guild Mrs. Gerald Delfino.

Also on the list of honorees are the incoming officers.

MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY PLUS CLUB of Pacifica will meet Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the Pacifica library, Hilton at Plametto, for the regular monthly evening meeting, according to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the seniors group.

High on the topic of conversation will be the June 5 and 6 Sequoia and Kings Canyon tour.

Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg, 355-2184, will provide information about reservations. Total cost of the jaunt will be $24.

HOME AFTER A DELIGHTFUL cruise aboard the Princess Italia are two local couples.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bocci, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. George Stephenson, all of Westlake, are still enthralled by their glorious adventures in Mexico. Though the foursome had never crossed paths locally, they became very good friends during the relaxing days aboard the ship.

The ship docked in Puerta Vallarta, Acapulco and Matzaland for shopping and sightseeing, but mainly it was a trip to rest and enjoy the shipboard games.

For the Stephensons the cruise was a part of their twenty-fifth anniversary celebration and the ship's social director had planned a schedule of activities which must have made the whole sojourn up and down the coast seem a party! Games, dances and contests were the order of every day and the Bocci's did remarkably well in all the competitions winning second place in the Masquerade party and Mel walked off with a second place in the Hot Lips contest while her husband won the honors in dancing.

Awards Luncheon for Girl Scouts

A Girl Scout Friendship Pin will be awarded to a worthy adult in recognition of outstanding service at the May 25 Daly City Girl Scout awards luncheon at noon May 25 at the Serra Bowl.

Mrs. Harold Martin of the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council's program committee is to be the announced keynote speaker.

Mrs. Martin recently retired as a teacher and is involved in special studies for the Danville school district. Her present appointment to the Girl Scout Council's program committee includes reviewing policy and initiating directions

Mrs. William Kennaugh is the association chairman.

The awards luncheon will honor Mrs. James Hendrickson, the association's "cookie lady," and Mrs. John Calvin, for over 25 years' service.

Five, 10 and 15 year pins will be presented.

Recipients will include Mrs. Thomas Jackson, Mrs. Emmette Galvin, Mrs. William Kennaugh and Fred Stewart, who will receive five-year membership pins; and Mrs. Eugene Golden and Mrs. James Morino, who will receive 15-year membership pins.

The group also recommended that the board enable each local association to expand its membership to include all active, registered seniors.

Just Imagine the Beautiful Things This Custom Quilted Sofa and Loveseat Can Do for Your Living Room!

Any living room (even one a bit on the humdrum side) will take on fresh importance with these custom quilted traditional pieces dominating the scene! You'll find that a really sumptuous sofa and loveseat like these are a splendid focal point around which to create an entire decorating scheme. You may be astonished at the wonderful difference the sofa will make when used all by itself when positioned precisely as you want it in your home. Then plop down on the thick dacron and foam cushions. You'll marvel at the deep down comfort. This comfort is the natural product of carefully balanced pitch and generous quanities of foam and cotton padding lavished over the quality kiln-dried hardwood frame.

Examine this masterpiece in detail and you'll discover the kind of mastercrafting detailing usually found only in pieces costing many, many dollars more. Under the seat cushions where lesser sofas use low grade linings, you'll find the seat deck is upholstered in the same fine fabric as the rest of the piece. Select from five hand-guided custom quilted floral print fabrics, quilted on foam, to give it a pouff effect, adding more detail and 3-dimensional beauty! The lined, scalloped over lay skirt will always hang straight — always look fresh and neat.

The longest journey begins with a single step, they say. Make your first step toward a more beautiful home than ever with these American Traditional pieces. Resolve now, today, to see it in person here at Westlake Maple Shop. Then just imagine what this sofa and loveseat (and a little Flair) can do for your living room.

Parents Without Partners Lists Its Family Activity

A trip to Fleischaker Zoo, a Searsville Lake picnic, an afternoon of roller skating, a picnic at Coyote Point and a beach party at Dunes Beach plus a Campout at the Pinnacles near Hollister are just a sample of the family activities lined up for members of the Burlingame-San Mateo Chapter 54 of Parents Without Partners during May.

Group discussions, bridge, tennis, coffee and conversation, a night at the Races, roller skating, a sing-a-long, a talk-in, an evening at the Circle Star Theatre seeing Bill Cosby, educational meetings, and dances are more activities scheduled for just the parents.

The children have their day alone as they enjoy "A Day with Dads" (for the boys) or "A Date with Dads" (for the girls).

Parents Without Partners is an international, non-profit, non-sectarian, educational organization devoted to the welfare and interest of single parents and their children. To be eligible to join, a parent must be either widowed, divorced, separated, or unmarried. The children need not be living with the parent.

Three directors of the Chapter attended the Northern California Regional Confernece of Parents Without Partners, Inc., sponsored by Stockton Chapter 19 at the Holiday Inn in Stockton.

Those participating were: Robert Pandolfi of South San Francisco, chairman of the board of directors; Francie Purdue of Redwood City, PWP Newsletter editor, and Eloise Gilliland of San Mateo, second vice-president.

The day's program included a regional business meeting, elections, International children's exhibits, workshops, and a Presidents' Council meeting.

Keynote speaker was Right Reverend Walter Doyle, co-author of the California Mental Health Short-Doyle Act.

The end of the year rush is taking over TN, and the students are caught up in a multitude of final exams, club activities, end-of-the-year banquets, awards, speeches, and, for the seniors, graduation preparations.

The senior activity schedule includes: May 20 and 21, cap and gown distribution; May 27, senior reception; May 28, senior cut day; June 7, yearbook distribution; June 8, check-out day, Sea Bowl graduation party; June 9 and 10, graduation practice; June 10, graduation assembly; June 11, graduation commencements and the senior all-night party (which will be held after graduation at TN).

THE JUNIORS WILL HOLD a spring dance May 21 at the TN cafetorium. Music will be provided by "World," unless the juniors fail to sell the 200 advance tickets necessary to have the dance. The juniors are determined not to have this dance called off by lack of ticket sales.

Tiger Tales, TN's quarterly news magazine, will be out soon, featuring a senior section and polls, as well as a six-page satire magazine insert, "Tsetse-Fly Tails," which satirizes high school life and school publications.

IRC, TN'S International Relations Club, will hold its International Dinner and "Testimonial Night" this week at the home of their advisor, Jim Soden. Members will bring food from different countries, and an evening of entertainment, speeches, and suprises is planned.

Great S.F. Cookoff

San Francisco, I suppose, should be called the crab capital of the western hemisphere. With the delicate crustaceans available just off the Golden Gate through most months of the year, Bay Area residents can enjoy them very fresh and at a good price.

However, preparation of the crab may be quite another matter. A few years ago chefs from all over the country as well as a few foreigners locked in culinary combat that became the annual Crab Cooking Olympics. And last year, the title of the top crab chef was won by Robert Greault of the Washington, D.C. Jockey Club.

So the San Franciscans came back this year, represented by Renato Tassera, head chef at Alioto's No. 8 on Fisherman's Wharf. Others in competition include chefs from Alabama, California, British Columbia, Alaska, Idaho, Oregon, Hawaii and Mexico.

The Olympics were staged Monday at Tassera's home restaurant with chefs competing in five categories: appetizers, soup or chowder, salad, entree (casserole) and a special creation of each chef.

The judges were James Beard, top American authority on cookery, Ruth Ellen Church of the Chicago Tribune, Opal Crandall of the San Diego Union, Helen McCully of House Beautiful and Judy Ruddell of the Vancouver Sun.

Chef Tassera has given us some of his recipes and if you love crab as much as I do, you'll want to try at least one of them.

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

We've all baked upside-down cakes, but wouldn't you say an upside-down pie would be rather unusual? It is indeed. And unusually delicious too.

UPSIDE-DOWN PIE

3 cups sliced apples
2 Tablespoons butter
½ cup walnut halves
1-3 cup brown sugar
2 Tablespoons flour
½ cup white sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt

Melt the two tablespoons butter and pour into a 9-inch pie pan. Place the half cup walnut halves in pan and sprinkle with the third cup brown sugar.

Roll out half of pastry and place in pan over the nuts and brown sugar, and prick with a fork.

Combine the three cups sliced apples with the two Tablespoons flour, half cup white sugar, half teaspoon cinnamon and fourth teaspoon each nutmeg and salt. Pour into pie crust. Roll out remaining pastry and place over top of apples. Flute and seal edge. Prick with fork.

Bake in 375-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from oven and cool for 5 minutes. Turn upside down on large plate. Serve warm.

PASTRY

1¼ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup shortening
1 egg
1 Tablespoon lemon juice

Sift the one and one-fourth cups flour with the half teaspoon salt in a bowl. Cut in the one-third cup shortening. Beat the egg and stir in the tablespoon lemon juice and add to floru and shortening. Mix and wrap in waxed paper and chill.

Roll out half the pastry between sheets of waxed paper. Place in pan, fill and rol out remaining pastry and top the pie.

NOTE: This pie calls for less pastry than is usual for a 2 crust pie. However it has more body than most pastry recipes and you can roll it quite thin. When baked and turned upside-down it holds together beautifully. Be sure to use a large plate when turning it out, it's rather juicy with the melted brown sugar and butter.

Cut the apple slices quite thin so they will cook in the short baking time.

THIS RICE CASSEROLE is delicious and very easy to mix and fix. You will note that it has a rather long baking time, but be assured 1½ hours is correct.

RICE CASSEROLE

¾ cube butter
1 cup raw rice, unwashed
1 (5 ounce) can water chestnuts, sliced
1 (2 ounce) can sliced mushrooms
1 can condensed onion soup
¾ cup water

Melt the three-fourths cube butter in skillet, stir in the one cup raw rice. Add the drained, 5 ounces sliced water chestnuts and the two ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained. Cook for 10 minutes.

Remove from heat and add the condensed canned onion soup and three-fourths cup water. Turn mixture into a casserole, cover tightly and bake in 300-degree oven for 1½ hours or until brown.

Makes 6 servings.

THE SAN BRUNO Recreation Department's Tiny Tots recently were graduated at special ceremonies. The children, ages three years and nine months to five years, showing what they learned, did the Mexican Hat Dance (above). Mrs. Arlynne Phillipson and Dwayne Kilgore, Tiny Tot instructors, awarded certificates of achievement to each child.

Skills Demonstrated

Fire-making and knot-tying were among the Scouting skills demonstrated by boys from Troop 85 to an audience of Cubs and parents from Pack 19, Millbrae.

Songs and slides were also presented to interest Cubs in continuing in Scouting. The program, arranged by Scoutmaster Bill Mendel, Cubmaster Donald Griffin and Pack 19 Committee Chairman Bob McGinnis, was coordinated by Pinetree District Commissioner Larry Ullo.

Webelos from Den 7 participated in the opening ceremony and provided refreshments to follow the meeting.

Before the program by Troop 85 began, Highlands School student Edward Kenna became the 40th Cub in Pack 19, inducted by Cubmaster Griffin. Mike Mosby, almost a two-year veteran in the pack, whose mother has been his very active and capable den leader, advanced in rank from Wolf to Bear and received both a gold and a silver arrow for the numerous electives he has completed. Robert Geyer, a Cub only since last fall, received a silver arrow to wear beneath his already earned Wolf badge.

The May pack meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Highlands School multi-use room will be the last meeting for this school year. A number of Webelos will be honored that evening with Cubbing's highest honor, the Arrow of Light.

Saturday or Sunday, Cubs, parents and friends will take a trip to the Audubon Canyon Ranch at Stinson Beach in Marin County. The alternate day schedule has been set up so that every Cub family will have a chance to participate.

SEVERAL CUB PACK 724 members received awards recently.

They were:

Robert Eanes, Wolf; Bobby Aquino, silver arrow; Philip Gloria, denner; Leroy Woodlief, assistant denner; David Richwood, Bear and gold arrow; Norman Geimer, Webelo colors.

Den 4 presented a magic show, and a movie about the San Francisco Giants-1970 was shown.

Winners of the Pinewood Derby last month were Kevin Goodwin, David Richwood and Kurt Koch.

Best-looking car was built by Mike Venezio.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 369, sponsored by the Skyline Plaza Merchants Association, held a Court of Honor recently.

The troop was presented the National Camping and four Project SOAR awards. Guests were shown slides of the Council's Camp Royaneh and served refreshments.

Craig Markinson received his Silver Eagle Palm. Rich Bagnall and Jim Brooks were awarded Star Scout badges. Michael Dittmore, Jay Pierce and F. J. Pratt attained 1st Class rank, and Ed Adams, Drew Brooks, George Demakas, Phil Manchester and Kevin Thorson were presented 2nd Class badges.

A formal Tenderfoot Scout induction was held for Ed Adams, Mike Burns, Mark Dittmore, Tony Fretty, Jim Heryford, Bill Mathers, Mike Musich, Maxie Santiago and Mike Schumacher.

Merit badges were presented to Craig Markinson, Martin Dreiling, Rich Bagnall, Jay Pierce, Jim Brooks and F. J. Pratt.

Certificates went to Ed Adams, Rich Bagnall, Jim Brooks, George Demakas, Martin Dreiling, Phil Manchester, Jay Pierce and F. J. Pratt for successful completion of a two-day Junior Leader Training Course.

Camp Fire Girls Launch Sustaining Member Drive

William Hammer, sustaining membership chairman for District VI Camp Fire girls, announced the member drive goal is $25,000.

Funds raised in the current campaign will supplement income from the candy sale and from the United Bay Area Crusade.

The Camp Fire organization had allotments from United Crusade cut and was told to conduct its own campaign.

A chairman in each Camp Fire group is soliciting that group's parents in hopes of collecting $5 from each family with a child enrolled as a Camp Fire girl or who is a friend of Camp Fire.

A successful drive will mean that Operation Doorstep in Chinatown and the Fillmore and Mission districts can be restored and the number of staff members, recently reduced, can be increased to give better service to district volunteers, leaders, mothers and girls, Hammer said.

Contributions may be sent to Camp Fire headquarters at 325 Arguello Blvd., San Francisco.

The drive will continue during May.

'Carnival' Auditions Continuing

The San Bruno Recreation Department and the American Musical Theatre and Academy of Daly City will stage the musical, "Carnival," and auditions will continue today.

Auditions will be held in the War Memorial Recreation Center on Crystal Springs Road, San Bruno, at 7:30 p.m., according to Jack Brooks, producer-director of AMTA.

The group produced "Oklahoma," last month with local casting.

The leading role of "Lili" requires a strong soprano in her late teens to mid-twenties, Brooks said.

Along with the other singing, he said, acting and dancing roles, acrobats and gymnasts are sought for the production.

"Carnival" will be presented in late August and early September.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE McALLISTER

The Jefferson Marching Band has been warming up for a strenuous ability evaluation on May 22 in Menlo Park. The musicians have participated in two preparatory parades, taking second in the Daly City parade commemorating "Cinco de Mayo" and winning a plaque and $50 at the Millbrae Youth Day Parade.

They will be judged in Menlo Park on playing ability, marching formations, spacing, front side and diagonally, and the appearance of their uniforms.

FIVE STUDENTS from Jeff last week attended a conference on America's future. The conference, titled "America, Where Are We Going?", was held to bring Bay Area youth together through communication with the help of the community.

The conference at San Carlos High School featured such keynote speakers as Congressman Paul N. McCloskey, state schools' superintendent Wilson Riles, and Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, San Francisco State College president.

TWENTY-FIVE students from the Jeff Italian class attended an Italian luncheon May 11. Mrs. Elda Van Note, Italian instructor, made the sauce and the ravioli and the girls prepared the luncheon.

'Who Sez You Can't?' Film by the 17th P-TA District

"Who Sez You Can't" is the title for a P-TA film to be shown at the regular monthly meeting of San Mateo County's Seventeenth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers May 20.

The film, which deals with numerous rationalizations common to P-TA members and units who attempt to cloak their noninvolvement with a respectable, "State, District or National P-TA says we can't," will be shown primarily to newly elected P-TA officers and will be available for later use in individual P-TA units.

Scheduled for discussion during the business portion of the meeting are several bylaws revisions, among them one affecting the definition of quorum.

Unit presidents, as well as district officers and chairmen are urged to attend the 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. meeting at the CTA Building, 1705 Murchison Drive, Burlingame.

Speaker Selected

Sidney W. Brossman, chancellor of the California Community College, will speak at the second graduation ceremony of Skyline College, June 12.

Other speakers will include the Rev. George DeWeese, pastor of San Bruno's Bethama Presbyterian Church. He will be giving the invocation. Giving the benediction will be the Rev. Paul Duggan, pastor of St. Augustine Catholic Church, Daly City.

Approximately 375 Skyline College students are eligible for participation in the June graduation exercises, said Miss Lee Crist, Dean of Women and chairman of the graduation exercises.

The prospective graduates should have received their congratulatory letters from President Philip C. Garlington requesting their participation and involvement in the program.

Foster's Chicken Special Now Through May 23

Foster's Farm Fried Chicken House, located across from the Hillsdale Shopping Center, will be offering the lowest prices on "take out" chicken on the Peninsula. This is a seven-day special only (now through May 23), and believe your Bright Lighter when he says that some heavy money (20 cents to 75 cents) can be saved. The savings begin with the purchase of three pieces of chicken and continue up to the double bucket of 21 pieces. For convenience and to avoid waiting, orders may be called in and then picked up. So if you're interested in pampering your hearty appetites and saving money, make certain you give Foster's a visit . . . Everyone's favorite sister combination on the Peninsula is the duo of Mary Lou Francis and Theresa Urban, the sweet little gals who own and operate the award-winning Scotty Campbell's restaurant in Redwood City. The petite, look-alike sisters have myriad outside interests, too. Their love of antiques is legendary, and you'll find an amazing collection throughout their splendid restaurant . . . Park Avenue Tours, which specializes in helping Californians enjoy "Entertainment the Nevada Way," now has a special package trip to Reno's Ponderosa Hotel. Overnight accommodations are at either the Ponderosa or a deluxe motel in the area, plus a giant $18 bonus upon arrival. A two-night package, with comparable refunds, is also available.

JILL OF ALL TRADES — Pretty waitresses like Bobbi Furtado will take your order for wine by the carafe which is drawn from the Wine Bar at the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto. You pay for the burgundy, chablis or rose, but the bright smile is absolutely free. Bobbi, who doubles sometimes as hostess and cashier, serves cocktails during the afternoon.

Stan Kenton Returns To Hotel Claremont

Stan Kenton and his world-renowned 20-piece orchestra will perform in concert and for dancing in a three-day return engagement at the Resort Hotel Claremont in Berkeley on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 21, 22 and 23. Tickets are on sale at the Claremont and will also be available at the door. Minors are welcome at all performances, which will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Sunday . . . Park Avenue Tours, with four Bay Area offices to serve you, offers a variety of packages and overnight tours to South Lake Tahoe. Whether driving your own car or traveling by bus, the bonus you receive always includes cash, food credit and cocktails. Las Vegas and Reno tours are also available. For more information, contact your nearest Park Avenue Tours office . . . In celebration of their twenty-fifth anniversary, Performer Billy Grant, the nation's foremost authority on everything," and his wife, Miriam, headed for the playground of South Lake Tahoe (via Park Avenue Tours) for "entertainment the Nevada way." It was really a triple celebration for the couple: their daughter, Cooky, presented them with a grandchild, and Miriam was marking up another natal day.

No Biz Lull At Benjamin Franklin

The restaurant business increase at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel is fantastic! Erwin Best and Chef Tom Delano put their heads and pencils together and the result was many menu changes and lowering of prices. Bright Lights highly recommends breakfast, luncheon or dinner in the comfortable surroundings of the Greenwillow dining room. Your favorite cocktail is also available. . . . Now that summer is almost here, the Donati brothers, Reno and Julio, will take turns spending considerable time at their vacation retreat near Boulder Creek. While one tends to the duties of their New Southern restaurant in South San Francisco, the other (and his family) will head toward the Santa Cruz mountains. And you wonder why they always look tanned! . . . Dave Rasmussen and his Shadows of San Mateo crew would seem to be ubiquitious. Besides operating one of the most successful restaurants in the Bay Area, they also do a remarkable job in outside catering. Yes, they provided the food and drink for those attending the recent Sports-Vacation Show at the San Mateo County Fair Grounds.

Nifty Donut Shop 'Hole In Ones'

The "dunken nod" of the week goes to Richard and Shirley Garcia, who operate the Nifty Donut Shop, located at 12 East Seventeenth Avenue, San Mateo. For those who enjoy the luxury of coffee an' (whether it's in the a.m. or p.m.), the donuts served here are truly nifty. Cute Rita McDonough serves the "hole in ones" to speedy perfection. "Dunk in" some time — you'll enjoy . . . My "pen girl" Margie Brandon has failed to report the happenings at Clancy's of late. However, there's no doubt that this vivacious Miss is still packin' 'em in around the organbar, which is so large that Margie sends out a miniature wagon to pick up the song requests . . . With another racing season due to open soon at Bay Meadows, hundreds of horsemen are rapidly arriving on the Peninsula. This, of course, means more business for the nearby Hillsdale Inn, which has been considered a "headquarters for horsemen" since it first opened . . . Country and western music is heard five nights a week, Wednesdays through Sundays, at The Studio in Belmont. Two different bands are showcased, and you better believe there's plenty of dance action in the lounge.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Belmont Prime Rib For Lounge Entertainment

Besides fine food, the Belmont Prime Rib presents excellent lounge entertainment on weekends. Currently performing at the pianobar is Al Smith, who is a personal friend of restaurant owner Jack Davis. Al is a talented veteran of the local pianobar circuit and has a host of fans . . . The Dealers, a wild group from the San Jose area, have returned to Deejay's in Belmont. They can be heard five nights a week, Wednesdays through Sundays, while The Sound Barrier provides the dance sounds on Mondays and Tuesdays. There's lots of action here! . . . Something new has been added at The Band Stand, a new nitery in Redwood City. Tap beer is now available, and continental breakfasts are served on Fridays and Saturdays from 2 a.m. to 5 a.m. . . . Last Friday was "Hot Pants Night" at The Putter, Burlingame Plaza. Me thinks it was just another excuse for the merry-gang to get together. One of the most exciting events (costume-wise) of the year. Live music, dancing and prizes were party attractions.

HOOKEY-PLAYING HOBO IN HOT PANTS — What are railroads coming to? First Am-Track, now a female brakeman in Hot Pants who jumped at the chance to intercept a record shipment of frozen hot snacks headed for eight local QFI supermarkets. She's Carla Befera, a pert 14-year-old from Palo Alto.

Hot Pants For Andy Ardito?

When the Lord Fletcher Inn's regular cocktail waitress takes her break, General Manager Andy Ardito (minus mini-skirt) steps in to handle the lounge chores. Says Andy laughingly, "I can't understand why my tips are always smaller." Manny, the expert night plankman, keeps urging his boss to shoot the works and buy a pair of Hot Pants . . . Kathy Dee presides at the pianobar on weekends at Bruno's in downtown San Mateo. Miss Dee includes many of today's contemporary sounds as well as nostalgic favorites in her book of musical selections, and leads the songfests on Friday and Saturday nights from 9 p.m. . . . Congratulations to Lew and Edith Lehr, who celebrate the thirteenth anniversary of their popular Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district, tonight. One of the most successful husband-and-wife teams in the business, the Lehrs have enjoyed a steady, year-by-year increase in business since they first opened in 1958.

Vince Licata Double Duty

"Farmer" Vince Licata (he now owns ten acres of land in Woodside) has been doubly busy these days, what with his son, Tony, recovering from a serious operation. Vince tends to his usual buying of supplies, then reports for a double restaurant shift at his Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. You can lay a good bet that as soon as Tony reports back to duty, Vince will be "off and running" for the Nevada territory . . . Ansara's in Redwood City has been the "stage setting" for big before and after-theater crowds. The full course dinners are rave getters — and you can't beat them price or quality-wise. Shish Kabob and Top Sirloin Steak are two of the most popular selections . . . Between his golfing activities and hosting his A. Sabella's restaurant, Lucien Sabella has a "daily double" going seven days a week and he's a winner in both fields.

The Auction Calls

"Going, Going, Gone!" will be the call from KQED, Channel 9 starting Friday at 5 p.m. and continuing until the last item is auctioned May 30.

The KQED 17th annual auction will be at Daly City's Cow Palace.

Air time will be from 5 p.m. to midnight on weekdays and 2 p.m. until 1 a.m. on weekends.

Among the offerings: A private ski lesson with John Fell Stevenson; lunch at the Crystal Palace with Charles McCabe; a picnic with weathergirl Karna Small, and lunch with Sen. John Tunney in the Congressional Dining room in Washington.

There will be antiques and Giants' tickets.

Levi-Strauss has even arranged for two tickets to the Salinas Rodeo, with lodging and dinner included.

Every night at 8:30 there will be a sports desk featuring area sports figures and tickets to games.

The 49ers will kick off the action on Friday. There will be a sports special on Saturday, the Oakland Raiders Monday, the Bay Bombers Tuesday, the Warriors on Wednesday, U.C. and Stanford Athletes on Thursday and Friday, the Giants on May 29 and the Oakland Seals, May 30.

Pacifica Spring Fair Set

The Community Cultural Coordinating Committee will hold its annual Spring Fair at the Sanchez Adobe in Linda Mar on May 23 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This year the festivities will include a used book sale, children's art in action, arts, crafts and pottery and an under-12 swaperee.

The main event will be two performances by the 12th Naval District Band.

The CCCC needs books. Call Joan Dahlstrom or take them to Pacifica's libraries.

All children under the age of 12 are invited to set up a card table (one to a family) and have some fun swapping or selling any of their white elephants or items they themselves have made. Parents must pre-register their children for a space and can do so by calling Mrs. Dahlstrom.

Artists are invited to exhibit their works. There will be no admission or commissions charged. Artists must be responsible for their own set-ups and must stay with their work throughout the day. For more information call Lucy Muir after 11 a.m.

Pacifica's Potters Workshop will exhibit along with any other interested craftsmen.

Gardeners interested in showing are welcome and will be assigned spaces by contacting Mrs. Dahlstrom.

A recent activity of the club was to attend Northern California Recognition Day in Sacramento. The graduation of K.O.P.S. was a highlight of the program. Two members of Linda Mar T.O.P.S., Anita Donelan for 23½ pounds loss and Gladys De Jesus for a 25 pound loss, were honored. Gladys De Jesus also represented the club in the Chapter Queens' Parade.

FLASHY FLASH — Pretty certain the Doelger Corporation soon will announce plans to build a multi-million-dollar apartment complex around parts of the San Francisco Golf Course perimeter — all in San Francisco. The plush country club, with its ultra-plush membership could use some "new" money from what Our Sources tell us.

AND THE REASON for that holdup of a Daly City medical building on the south end of Southgate, officials want us to believe, is water. Seems talks between the developers (Crocker and Gellerts) dwell on a new $1.2 million water reservoir for the area.. Present water facilities are not adequate to serve any new consumers in that area. City Hall says what they want is some land to build the reservoir on, plus an advancement of money to build it.

The city hall will pay back the builders on easy payment terms. Trouble is: the Builder must root out the loot at, say, a ten per cent interest rate and the City pays him back at, say, six per cent. Sounds to us like something straight out of "Catch 22."

FLOATING AROUND — A press release out of Tanforan Park Shop Center of April last: "Love 'N' Stuff Opens With A Slosh." The release deals with a water bed marathon which featured a Miss Daly City candidate. The attempt was to break the "old" water bed layin 'of 100 hours set by an unknown water mattress enthusiast from Podunk, Iowa. Don Frate, PRman at the center, promised the young lady would "stay as long as necessary (on the bed) to become the new champ." What must she do to set the record, we asked? Simple, the release informed us. She must use the bed for "continuous rest, reading, eating, etc." Etc.? We echoed.

SOME DALY CITY KIDS want the curfew law changed from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays. Some kids do little enough studying as it is — if you judge by the number of teens hanging around the lower reaches of Southgate Avenue on any given night.

ON THE OTHER FOOT — We have nothing but praise for those kids being presented with the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce "Outstanding Students" awards tomorrow night at the Meat Block restaurant up at Skyline Plaza Shop Center. Those 12 kids from Serramonte, Westmoor and Jeff high schools prove that the MAJORITY of today's youth are something to be proud of. They should give these kids a badge to wear, so folks could walk up and shake their hand. These ARE the leaders of tomorrow — and darn good leaders they will be. They are "ins" not "dropouts." And where are the TV cameras?

SPEAKING OF the chamber (Daly City-Colma) — The Chamber's annual golf tournament is on at Lake Merced starting at 8 a.m., June 3. Backers of the affair say the tickets are going fast and persons desiring to play better hurry and call. (P.S. They told us EVERYTHING to say, except where to call. The CofC offices, we guess???)

SICK CALL — Mike Kiley, head of recreation in San Bruno, to hospital for surgery . . . Dick Stagg, owner of Staggs photo in San Bruno, home recuperating after 16 days in hospital. Lost 18 pounds and looking great, friends say.

IS SENATOR ARLEN GREGORIO "digging himself a hole," as some North County politicos claim? The good senator keeps making confirmed speaking dates — then breaks them. Frankly, after much promises of "meeting the people" in the north area (he told us during a luncheon shortly after his election) we haven't seen hide nor hair of him. Probably just as well after some of the votes he's made in Sacramento since his election.

D.C. MAYOR BUD LYCETT and other prominent (and not so prominent) backers of the Summer Youth Job Program were pretty disappointed at last week's dismal turnout of local businessmen at Lyons Restaurant.

The few who did gather are the same businessmen and officials that have met year after year in a sincere effort to nail down jobs for low income needy youths. The kids WANT TO WORK for money to insure they can go back to school in the fall and NOT be a burden the people needed to put this thing together? Next on the taxpayers (through welfare). Now, where are the people needed to put this thing together? Next time, hopefully, some of these footdraggers will jump on the wagon and help.

BOO BOO-ALA-SSF — Mayor Bill Borba at a recent SSF council meet made this motion. "Those in favor SIMPLIFY by saying . . ." Simplify? With an almost automatic three votes to everything brought up by him, councilman Frank Berticelli or Patrick Ahern, it is OVER-SIMPLIFIED in our Book.

D.C. ATTORNEY PAUL HUPF just announced the engagement of his daughter, Christine, to Michael Fallon Gordon — a GI in Vietnam. Michael is expected to be home around June 1st.

ANOTHER NETWORK BOO BOO — Walter Cronkite made this one: "And now the New York SHOCK Exchange news . . ." We agree!

WESTMOOR HIGH'S yearbook isn't even out yet and already complaints about a photo therein are being heard! Something about an ecology-type photo, showing a beer can in a school toilet. (?)

We haven't seen the pix — and don't care to make judgments until we do — but sources indicate that Principal Clay Kollman (and others) thought it in "bad taste."

The yearbook staff's advisor and a few students pushed higher and won approval (not from the Board of Trustees). All comments should be referred to the Jefferson Union High School District superintendent.

Welfare Dilemma

The 'Myth' of Family Employables

By VIRGIL WILSON

One of the popular "myths" about public assistance, according to Dr. George Pickett, county health and welfare director, is the belief that most welfare recipients could be holding down "honest jobs."

"That's a lot of baloney," he says. "Most welfare families don't have anybody employable in them, unless you are talking about mothers. And that gets you into the area of who is going to care for their children if they are put to work."

"Besides," Dr. Pickett adds, "jobs are just not that available. Recently 192 men took a test for only three laborer's jobs on county civil service."

He recalls that Governor Reagan, who has proposed a "public work force" as a vital part of his welfare reform proposal, recently sent letters to 300,000 businessmen, asking each of them to hire one welfare recipient.

"He came up with 26 jobs, offering an average salary of $74 a week," Dr. Pickett says. "That ought to tell you something."

Dr. Pickett also has a warning about government makework programs which use the concept that a recipient will be knocked off the rolls if he is offered a job and refuses to take it.

"I can remember stories about something like that happening in Nazi concentration camps," he says. "Who is going to decide whether a recipient is employable or not? The idea has not been well worked out and should be gone into very carefully before any thought is given to putting it into effect."

The California Counties Welfare Modernization Task Force observed last year that "the myth that there is widespread refusal among welfare recipients to work persists despite evidence to the contrary and the fact that unemployment itself is a major cause of people being on welfare in the first place."

The "evidence to the contrary" is statistics indicating that the aged, the blind, the disabled, and other unemployable adults constitute 40 per cent of welfare recipients, and that another 48 per cent are children under 18.

The task force made these other observations on the subject:

The economy does not provide employment for all who want work, and work opportunities for the undereducated, non-skilled and low-skilled person are diminishing. The situation "requires national policy decisions as to whether we are to stand on the historical 'work ethic' of this country or capitulate to the idea that our economy cannot provide work for all and, therefore, must substitute income maintenance programs for those who can't get jobs."

"The present system of aiding employable-unemployed persons is not structured to provide jobs first rather than a direct money payment. As a result, there is public resentment toward those public assistance programs aiding employable persons, because the general feeling that people should work if able."

Among California counties the San Mateo County Social Service Division has pioneered in social rehabilitation programs for welfare recipients to make them "competitive in the present-day labor market." The program was started in 1957 with five trainees and expanded through the years until it now includes 700 recipients enrolled in various training projects.

At the start, all clients with employment potential are referred to the Social Rehabilitation Service for counseling, testing, work pre-conditioning training and placement, if possible. Secondly, recipients are assigned to outside training programs, placed in college and university courses, adult education programs, apprenticeship training, the federally funded Opportunities Indistrialization Center West, trade schools, or "whatever program best serves the needs of the recipient." More than 500 are in these programs at the present time.

If for some reason the welfare client cannot be placed in these programs, social service has developed a number of training activities within the structure of county government. Eighty-two recipients were involved here at the last count.

Another 69 are enrolled in a "sheltered workshop" program in a San Carlos industrial area where, according to Robert D. Rippeto, county social service superintendent, "every effort is made to simulate as nearly as possible the working conditions of private industry so that trainees may develop work habits and attitudes that will enable them to be placed in some type of private employment." Included in the group are a few former state hospital patients.

"It is doubtful," Rippeto says, "that some of these recipients will ever acquire the skills to secure employment in private industry. However, they are assigned to this activity to prevent further deterioration and to help them maintain their present level of functioning."

The "factory" is located at 1040-50 Brittan Avenue in San Carlos. It started out 12 years ago with a single production item — woven reed jackets for wine bottles. Through the years it has been expanded to include these other present activities: servicing headsets used in airliners; making wire harnesses for coin changers; skimmers, play equipment and other items for home swimming pools; plastic parts for kayaks; stuffed toys; pajama bags, and schoolroom equipment.

Rippeto says the idea of the workshop is not just to give the recipients something to do, but to "teach them an occupation, train them to be competitive in the labor market."

Our Viewpoint

Transit Restriction Bill Blow to Area

If the calibre of the California State Senate is to be judged by its callow performance recently in voting 27 to 4 for a bill confining construction by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to its three member counties, the upper house should get bad marks for neglecting its homework.

When the State Assembly takes a good look at this bill, authored by Senator John A. Nejedly of Walnut Creek on behalf of a small clique of Eastbay directors of BART, the selfish intent of the bill should become plainly visible. Beyound the breastbeating, parochial camouflage about BART's first obligation being the completion of its system within the district, the sole objective of the bill is to halt any extension of BART to the San Francisco International Airport. Meanwhile, the BART system will be extended to the Oakland International Airport with a fair chance that this facility will be able to siphon off part of the traffic now going through the San Francisco air terminal.

Members of the Senate should have known this. Perhaps some of them did but found it more politic to pretend ignorance.

It is fair to say that everyone hopes that BART will be successful, that it will remedy the problem of overcrowded street, roads, and freeways, but few persons are optimistic enough to believe that it will pay for itself — or even pay its own operating expense.

Under such a circumstance it seems fiscal insanity to impose upon it, legislatively, the cruel handicap of barring it from the one short route that seems assured of earning a sufficient profit to help offset losses on longer runs. This will be the real effect of the Nejedly Senate Bill and, while experts believe that the San Francisco Airport link would be profitable, it remains only conjecture that the Oakland Airport extension would ever pay its own way. On its own figures the Oakland air terminal carried only 2,146,800 passengers in 1969, the last full year of record, as compared with 14,472,964 at the San Francisco terminal. In 1969-70 Oakland passenger traffic actually declined by 0.4 per cent while San Francisco's passengers increased by 1.6 per cent.

It appears almost certain that the Nejedly Bill will hurt BART more than it will help it.

From the standpoint of San Mateo County, which declined to enter the original BART district because it was not offered equal benefits, the bill is regrettable because it defeats not only the extension to the San Francisco airport, but also the prospect of any early reconciliation of the county with BART. By opening the possibility of service from the airport southward on the Peninsula such a reconciliation would become practicable if the county's voters exercised option for it.

If the State Assembly will look at the whole picture of what will be lost to BART, and to the cause of Bay Area transit, it will see good reason for scrapping Senator Nejedly's "dog in the manger" bill.

'We've Bred Complex, Sophisticated, Confusing Tax Plan'

When I was in grammar school, Genghis Khan was depicted as a rascal of historical proportions. He beheaded babies and ruined villages. He did all kind of bad things, but the worst was described as his way of imposing taxes. Suddenly, his tax collectors would descend upon a poor and unfortunate farmer. Without more notice they would corral and remove half of his livestock.

What I didn't realize at the time was that the farmer had a good deal. He didn't have to count his pigs. He didn't have to hire lawyers, accountants and analysts to ascertain his standing, or to spend long hours filling out forms. All he had to do was have a cup of bitter tea and wait for nature to breed more piglets.

No such "good deal" for us. We have bred the most sophisticated, most complex, and most confusing tax structure in history. Not one Genghis Khan, but a multitude of taxing agencies squabble over the spoils. And most of our taxes have, like Topsy, "just growed." Topsy's father could on her birth have predicted her general form (two arms, two legs etc.), but the men who initiated the income tax (for example) could not possibly have forseen its present condition.

Ancient tyrants would wonder at our methods. The excise tax on table wine is 17 cents per gallon, that on carbonated wine is $2.40 per gallon and champagne is set at $3.40. Now, there is generally something grand about champagne and the splendid people who enjoy it. But carbonated wine? A tax of $2.23 per gallon of bubbles?

Your dinner rutabagas are not taxed if you eat at home. But if you eat out the price includes a sales tax.

What about nuts? They are really pretty nutty. Salted nuts are not subject to sales tax. But candy is. What about candied nuts? Or nutty candy?

In a recent effort to equalize taxes Congress unknowingly (I suppose) came to the aid of free love. Two wage earners (say at the level of about $6,000 per year each) pay less while living together in whatever it is, but pay more the day they marry.

These are but a few examples of a bewildering pattern. If it weren't so upsetting, reading tax schedules would come right after reading old Lyndon Johnson speeches as high camp. But the tears do flow and they will probably become more bitter as the years pass and greater and greater things are expected of our tax paying capacity. The only real cure will come about when we understand that we can no longer buy all of the things our politicians want for us, for only then is it likely that a sufficient number of Americans will turn on the source of the problem — profligate spending.

Lacking this broad understanding we turn to tax reform. The politics of tax reform is even more complex than our tax structure, but one overriding urgency dominates the arena. In a modern parody of the Jeffersonian principle of shared burdens, our citizens have a simple rule for tax adjustment: "Yours go up and mine go down."

The trouble is that the demands for governmental money have grown so wildly that new sources of revenue are constantly required. The result is that tax reform often takes form as shifting, not from one group to another but from one pocket to another, of the same people. Furthermore, one man's loophole is another man's incentive. Our tax rules have become, at least in part, instruments of governmental and social policy. Not unlike elements of environmental balance, tax laws are part of a confusing web of interrelated parts. Changing one feature within such an economic environment can have profound and surprising consequences in unexpected places.

Even so, the current situation is intolerable. Not so much because taxes hurt but because we have started to tax away our individuality. Our impositions work against home ownership, against private medicine, against self-sponsored education and many of the better features of American society. Taxes are gradually forcing multitudes to rely upon government for the things they need because they cannot provide these things for themselves from what is left. And what will be needed to cure this? More taxes.

Chief's Corner

What About the Victim?

The Federal Bureau of Investigation under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover has been the forerunner of professional police service to the public for many years.

Age has obviously not deterred Hoover from high quality administration of this agency, which is held in high esteem by its counterpart agencies and most members of the public.

An issue which gains public attention must be made in every campaign.

Since the Vietnam war and ecology issues have been almost run into the ground, a new issue was necessary to attract public attention — yet not have too much kick back.

A perfect issue, Hoover and the F.B.I., has been chosen. It has been the policy of the F.B.I. agency not to answer apparently politically motivated, generalized allegations.

The bureau's integrity has been more than sufficient to withstand the criticism and to hold up under congressional scrutiny.

Now, persons have seized upon this issue, knowing that Hoover will not resort to their tactics of making unsubstantiated accusations. These persons will be aided further by an ad hoc committee formed, through no official body, for the purpose of "looking at the F.B.I. as an institution and not at the personal history of an individual."

The point of ridiculousness in this matter has long passed. This is an effective law enforcement agency, which was chided by the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President John Kennedy for not doing enough "preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination," but now is being attacked for trying to do that very thing.

Who is going to take the stand for victim's of crime?

Everyone is taking a stand for the accused, for the government official, for the judge — but no one is taking the victim's plight into consideration.

The prosecutor, the probation officer, the judge and even the appellate courts only hear testimony on what happened.

The law enforcement officer, including the F.B.I. agents, deal with the victims and it appears to be in order that hopefuls divert their energy more in the realm of assisting people who need support, rather than kicking them when they are down.

—San Bruno Police Department.

'Gothic' Is the Opposite of 'Classicism'

By SAMUEL C. CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

"We hear so much about things being gothic — What is gothic?"

In a word, gothic in art, music, architecture is that which does not follow the rules of academic art. It is the opposite of classicism. Usually, it is characterized by sweeping lines or sounds and appeals to man's imagination seeking to carry him beyond reality to an emotion he has seldom sensed before.

Sam Chandler

Gothic literature is marked by wild, free writing; by the use of magic, mystery, chivalry, local color to produce an effect upon the reader. "Horrors abound: one may expect a suit of armor to suddenly come to life, while ghosts, clanking chains, and charnel houses impart an uncanny atmosphere of terror." (Thrall and Hibbard p 190.)

Among the all time great pieces of gothic writing are Horace Walpole's famous "Castle of Otranto. Anne Radcliffe's, "The Mysteries of Udolpho." Mary Shelley's "Frankenstein," and titles by Poe, The Bronte Sisters, William Godwin, and Sir Walter Scott.

Of recent gothics, two come to mind. Ira Levin's "Rosemary's Baby," a title that has horrified many as a book and as a movie, and "The Other Man's Shoes," by Abraham Rothberg.

The latter is a story of a sick, battle weary American journalist whose life has been saved by a friend during a terrorist attack on Saigon. After the incident, he returns home with an obsessive determination to learn everything about the man who died for him. As he proceeds, he becomes involved with the dead man's friend, a bitter, black revolutionist — and with the dead friend's wife, and his harsh, cold father.

He is pushed through unfamiliar landscapes, through new generation of American radicals and their riots, and through a love affair with a sexually liberated hippie girl.

THE HERO MOVES through a barbarous environment of gay bars and hangouts, into black ghettos and into the midst of an uncivilized group of young radicals. All the time, his own past remains dark; his own wife and his own father are forced into a horrible life of hopelessness that they cannot escape.

It's a book that asks deep questions about life in the dizzy, reeling American cities of the late 1960's. While it has some flaws in it, "The Other Man's Shoes " is a book that takes a man beyond the realities of the present into a world that seems to have advanced very little from the most primitive and barbarous ages of the past.

While such stories appeal to the imagination rather than to reality, they have a real value.

As Ray Bradbury has written: "I happen to believe in fantasy. I happen to believe we survive by our wits, by our ability to fantasize, and without it we couldn't exist in the very real world."

He observes that some people survived the horrors of Dachau and Buchenwald because they had trained themselves "within the theater of the head," and for a few hours a day, they must have had the ability to pretend, to fraternize.

This saves them from the maddness that thousands of others knew during their ordeal.

SUPPLEMENT OF THE TIMES AND THE POST — Wednesday, May 19, 1971

Le Pacini's

Coil, Texas Teacher

"Teacher Plays Baseball," is how the headline reads across the top of the Amarillo daily's sports page.

And you might be wondering what a Daly City - Pacifica, etc., sports columnist is doing reading a Texas sports page about local boys making good, when we have our own local stories about boys making good kicking around.

But hold your fire, please, because this is about a local boy making good — but making good in Texas rather than Daly City, Pacifica, etc. The Amarillo piece is about Marty Coil, the All-Everything Terra Nova athlete of several years back who a few years ago signed a Giant contract out of San Francisco State College and went on the road for the local Big League team.

While Marty was playing wherever they pointed him (first base, catch, third base, outfield, even a little pitch), whenever they wanted, and for whomever they wanted (Fresno, .224; Amarillo, .278; Amarillo, .283), he was working in the Terra Nova locker room and studying for a teaching credential at San Francisco State. Last year he got the credential, and through a series of unlikely circumstances ended up teaching history and coaching at Carver Junior High School in Amarillo. And that's what the Texas article is all about — the teaching professional baseball player.

MARTY COMES across as one of the most likable teachers at Carver and players on the Amarillo Giants, and not surprisingly. While a student at Terra Nova, Marty was one of the most popular kids on campus. In his first year of pro ball at Fresno he was named most popular player on the team. But if the local jocks could get a load of this article, we don't think Marty would be so popular anymore with his local coaching brethren.

The article quotes Marty as saying that there's not a better place to coach (than in Texas.) "This area may be the last holdout where high school teams have a truly good chance in athletics. In other areas, athletic programs are getting cutbacks and fewer kids are participating.

"It's really great to start out coaching here. Athletics are organized very well . . . If you have an equipment problem, you get it solved right away. All the events come off very well because they've been well planned."

But then Marty adds the coups de grace:

"Athletic programs in Texas (as compared to California) are far superior in all ways. Texas high school football is a lot better."

On the other hand, maybe Marty was coerced into saying those nastys about California. The administration at Carver might have threatened to put him on a dance committee if he didn't prove his loyalty to the Lone Star State.

BUT SERIOUSLY (that's what the comics always say when they've said something they think is funny that nobody else thinks is funny). Our Boy has made a big impression in Amarillo, and we can all be proud that a Pacifica lad is spreading his good up-bringing in the hinterlands.

Among other things, the article notes that Morty is one of the first two white coaches hired at the one-time all-Negro school. The athletic director says of Marty, "I've been over to see Marty coach. He likes young men and works well with them. He's a very effective coach and I think he has a great future."

The author of the article, Jim Sims, notes that Marty is "special people" to a lot of Amarillo citizens, that Amarillo has been "a better place" since Marty's decision to settle there, and concludes by saying that, "Pro baseball does many good things for a community and not the least, by any means, is bringing outstanding citizens like Marty Coil to the city to stay."

BASEBALL MISCELLANY: What do you suppose the odds were on the second man in baseball history to hit 600 or more homers (Willie Mays), witnessing the 600th homer of the third man in baseball history (Hank Aaron) to reach that mark. Chances are that fiercely competitive Gaylord Perry, who served up the pitch to Aaron when the Giants met Atlanta on their home grounds for that historic meeting, would rather have that pitch back than the money he could have made betting on such a long shot. . . .

Not that we're complaining about the Giant win-loss record, but have you noticed that now that they have the pitching they didn't have last year, when they seemingly never left men on base on their way to leading the big leagues in runs scored, they have slipped back to their 1969 habit of leaving men stranded in scoring position? Remembering that the Giants had one of the best pitching staffs in baseball in '69, could it be that batters subconsciously bear down harder, or relax, with men on base, depending on the ability of their pitching staff to hold down the opposition.

And that pitching STAFF, not just the top two or three starters and one or two spectacular reliefers, as is usually the case on any pitching staff, is so effective as a unit that the total team wins are spread among nine of the ten pitchers on the roster. That's what you call balance.

As of this writing, the Giant STAFF is running second behind the fabulous Met staff in the National League in team ERA (the Mets are somewhere around 1.75), which also means second in the majors. Only five teams in the Biggies are currently carrying team ERA's below three (three NL squads, two American League clubs), so even at this early date in the season that staff ERA isn't a cheapie.

Individually, one of the statistics that many people are overlooking are the strikeout records of Gaylord Perry Juan Marichal, a category for which they are not generally recognized. Perry and Marichal are running second and fifth, respectively, in the NL in total K's.

And if you like little cuties to win barroom arguments, try this one on your drinking buddies. What team is currently leading the majors in stolen bases? Answer: the New York Yankees.

THERE WAS relatively little notice taken by the local press in the recent untimely death of Tony Campagno, a custodian at Menlo-Atherton High School. There should have been. Campagno was a top football official, and in his playing days was one of the greatest athletes ever to come out of the Jefferson Union High School District, competing for Jeff in the late '30's and then going on to St. Mary's and capping a fine amateur career by participating in the Shrine East-West game.

After World War II, he played two seasons for the Pittsburgh Steelers before retiring from the gridiron.

NPL Title Hinges on Makeups

The North Peninsula League regulation baseball schedule may be ended but the most important action was due yesterday.

Thanks to inclement weather earlier in the year no champion has yet been crowned. There are, however, two first-place teams for the first time since the conference began action. And still a third team has a shot at sharing the 1971 bunting.

Terra Nova's Tigers now share first place with the South San Francisco Warriors after taking a 6-4 victory over Oceana on Friday. The win moved the Tigers to a 9-4 record, identical to SSF's mark after the Warriors were upset by Jefferson Thursday, 4-1.

In other conference action on Friday, Half Moon Bay stayed in contention with a 6-0 blanking of Westmoor while Serramonte edged out El Camino, 2-1.

Everything was riding on this week's rain-out makeups. Tuesday SSF played Oceana while Terra Nova battled Westmoor and Camino hosted HMB. If HMB, SSF and TN all won then TN and SSF will have a positive tie for the final title.

HMB will, however, then have to play Jefferson Thursday in still another makeup game in order to gain one-third of the championship.

If that happens, confusion will be piled on confusion as postseason, post-rainout playoffs will be conducted.

The action was cut and dried Friday. Terra Nova had to struggle to stay ahead of cellar-dwelling Oceana but after a very shaky start lefty Bud Papadakis settled down to pitch the final four shutout innings. Rocked for four runs in the first three innings, Terra Nova bounced back with its own three-run first and two-run fifth for the victory.

Singles by Steve Humphrey, Al Saisi and Lee Shackleford and a double by Mike Taylor gave the Tigers three runs early. The fifth featured a walk to Shackleford, singles by John Racanelli and Taylor and a sacrifice fly by Jeff Sotelo.

A walk to John Armstrong, Glenn Brede's triple and singles by Jim Romero, Tom Harper and Grady Thompson gave Oceana its big rally.

Junior righthander Frankie Reyes also had to struggle but his end-product shutout was more impressive. Although he gave up eight hits and a walk he didn't allow Westmoor to score a run. He struck out nine.

Tim Buckley's sharp two-run double in the fifth put the icing on a persistent, pecking HMB bat game. Three of HMB's 10 hits were infield bunts. Westmoor stranded 10 runners on the bases.

Gary Troexler picked up his fourth win of the year as Serramonte edged above the .500 mark with the win over the Colts. Serramonte scored a single run in the first on a walk to Mike Galli and Rick Newman's double and added the winning run in the third on Galli's single, two wild pitches, a walk to Newman and a double steal.

Right-hander Tom Horiye deserved a better fate as he threw a two-hitter in losing. El Camino's sole run came in the seventh when Mike Clary tripled and Bob Marty singled him home. But with two runners on an infield popup ended the threat and the game.

Jefferson High School, which just two days ago had been mathematically eliminated from any title hopes, came right back to upset front-running South San Francisco, 4-1.

It was the second loss in a row for the South City nine who still faced one more tough game this week against Oceana.

Last Thursday it was all Jefferson and Kenny Smith. The tall junior righthander stifled the Warrior bats in crucial situations after his teammates gave him a 3-0 opening frame lead.

John Giannini and Smoky Morton singled to start the rally and, after a steal opened first, Smith was walked intentionally. But loser Rick Hagstrom hit Neville Wall, one of the three he was to plunk, to drive in the first run before Ed Dominiguez singled in the second and third tallies.

South San Francisco High School's frantic charge towards the North Peninsula League baseball title came to a screeching (albeit temporary) halt on May 11.

The Terra Nova Tigers precariously clinging to a mathematical chance at catching the Warriors, made the chance more of a reality by shutting out Bob Brian's lads, 4-0.

In other action, Westmoor shut out El Camino, 5-0, while Serramonte rallied past Oceana, 9-3.

Junior righthander John Racanelli, who has had problems in the late innings with endurance, had it all together against the Warriors. He fired a one-hitter, surrendering only a harmless third inning single to Hank Love.

Racanelli also drove in what proved to be the only needed run as he singled in Steve Humphrey in the sixth inning to break up a scoreless pitching duel between he and righthander Pete Enea, who suffered his first loss in five NPL outings.

Al Saisi added the frosting in the seventh with a three-run homer over the cones at Orange Park. Enea struck out nine but allowed eight hits.

Elsewhere, Serramonte, which hadn't hit a homer all year, came up with three in the Tuesday game to blast Oceana Rick Newman's grand slam in the sixth propelled the Regents to the victory while Greg Hansen's two run shot and catcher Ron Beltramo's solo blast ended the round trippers of the day.

Junior lefthander John Stack picked up the win on a four-hitter. He whiffed seven.

Brad Casey's four-hitter and wildness on the part of El Camino starter Ken Hornick enabled Westmoor to gain its victory. Hornick gave up three consecutive walks with two on and two out in the first.

Gavin Long led the Ram parade with a perfect day as Casey struck out five and walked a similar number.

Pitch, Hit and Throw Events SET

North County boys may test their baseball skills in a nationwide competition that will culminate with eight boys competing for national championships at the All-Star Game in Detroit on July 13.

Registration for the competition — the Official Major League Baseball Pitch, Hit and Throw Competiton (PH&T) is being taken no at all loal Phillips 66 Stations.

Now in its second year, PH&T is sponsored by Major League Baseball in conjunction with Phillips Petroleum Company and local Phillips 66 dealers. $Reristration will continue through May 20 and local contests will be held on May 22, in conjunction with the Daly City Recreation Department, the PH&T coordinator for this area.

Each boy competes with boys of his own age in pitching for accuracy, hitting for distance and throwing for accuracy. Winners are determined on the basis of total scores.

Local winners will advance to district contests on June 5 or 6 in San Francisco. Winners from there will go to division competition at Candlestick Park in San Francisco.

The eight boys who will go to the All-Star Game to compete for four national championships — with four representing the National League and four the American League — will be picked from the highest scorers among division winners.

Serra Drops Finale in the WCAL

Serra High School's baseball team missed the West Catholic Athletic League playoffs on Friday, losing a 5-4 decision to St. Ignatius in ten innings.

But Padre coach Ken Houle called the game, "the most courageous effort I've ever seen by a Serra athletic team. I'm really proud of them."

The Pads finished 4-8 in the WCAL after a beautiful practice season, during which they edged most of the local clubs.

That day marked Serra's last chance to get into the WCAL playoffs. Serra trailed 4-2 going into the top of the sixth, but Jim Berriatua and Charlie Soulard smashed back-to-back triples to tie the game.

And that's the way it stayed for three and a third more innings. Steve Viehweg, the Pad's talented sophomore hurler, started to tire in the bottom of the tenth.

He walked two batters, then loaded the bases by hitting a batter.

The Pads brought the outfield and infield in in a desperate attempt to cut off the winning run, but SI's Rick Vujovich tapped a fly ball over the center fielder's head to drive in the winning run.

Viehweg struck out ten in his losing cause. The Pads finished 15-9 overall in a funny season — during the first half, everything went right. During the second half, the one the counted, luck didn't come so easily.

Serra High dropped a 7-0 decision to San Mateo May 11.

The Pads dropped a 7-0 decision to Mitty at Fitzgerald Field in San Mateo May 11.

First baseman Vince O'Leary slammed a double and a triple for the Pads last week, but never made it home. Meanwhile, Mitty batters were shelling Pad moundsmen for 10 hits.

Crestmoor Reigns As New Track Champ

By RON REID

Crestmoor High School today reigns as the Mid Peninsula League's 1971 track champion, an accomplishment which should surprise no one until the Falcons use Howard Hughes to anchor their mile relay.

As they had indicated back in March and through the repetition of a 6-0 dual meet season the Falcons outstripped their rivals easily in Thursday's MPL Championship Meet at Mills High School.

Crestmoor parlayed exceptional depth with six first places to score 92 points in the varsity showdown while Burlingame, last year's champion, took runnerup honors with 75 points. The rest of the field finished far back.

While it reflected the obvious talent of the Falcons, the league championship was also revenge for last season, when Crestmoor won the MPL meet but lost the league title through dual meet failures. The acquisition this time around was also a happy one for Coach Ron Etherton, who waited through three winless seasons before his team beat its first MPL foe.

Etherton, however, wasn't all that confident when the competition began. Steve Trueman, the Falcons' fine field event performer, had to scratch from the long jump with a sprained ankle, an injury which also figured to preclude his usual strong effort in the pole vault.

But Trueman came through with a 13-6 vault to finish second behind Hillsdale's talented Terry Webb, and the only other worry throughout the day was how to keep the crowd out of the infield, which looked like the assembly point for the Red China infantry.

Crestmoor got the momentum it needed early in the meet, when the Falcons won the 440 relay in 43.6 and Gary Hicklin followed with the finest 880 of his career.

Hicklin, who also anchored the Crestmoor mile relay team to another first place, started his stretch run going into the final turn, when he trailed Burlingame's Hank Arkle and San Mateo's Andy Nevitt.

Driving past both adversaries in the best footrace of the meet, Hicklin finished with a strong kick for a 1:56.5 clocking that beat his previous best by 1½ seconds. Van Arkle was second in 1:58.1 and Nevitt clocked 1:58.2.

Warriors Win Title in N.P.L.

Three new league standards were set as the South San Francisco Warriors, as expected, swept to the 1971 North Peninsula League track championship Friday afternoon.

South City's Tony Sotoa doubled and set a new mark in the long jump with a 21-6¼ leap leading the Warriors to a 97-74 win over second-place El Camino. Camino's strong showing was due mainly to a double record-setting output by two-milers Jim Van Dine and Ed Schlegle and pole vaulter Paul Lynn.

Van Dine and Schlegle, who finished one-two in the long run, both broke the old NPL standard of 10:00.9 quite easily while Lynn's leap was nearly 11 inches better than the six-year old mark.

Sotoa took a second in the high hurdles as well as his first place low hurdle victory. The Warriors also scored heavily in the sprints with a first in the 100 by Gordon Snyder and a one-two finish in the 200 by Loren Gava and Snyder.

All five finishers in each event automatically qualified for the Central Coast Section regional track meet next Saturday at San Mateo High School.

Knights Leave Rest Behind

By CHRIS STAVE

The second-place rabble is as clamorous as ever in the Mid-Peninsula League baseball race, but first-place Hillsdale High School is leaving it far behind.

Hillsdale defeated second-place San Mateo, 3-0, at Beresford Park on Friday to pull farther away from the field with only three contests remaining.

Capuchino had been tied for second, but dropped one to Aragon that day, 6-5, to fall out of contention. Burlingame, a 6-4 extra-inning victor over Mills, is Hillsdale's lone remaining challenger.

But if Burlingame loses even one of its remaining games, Hillsdale is in.

The Knights didn't have to scratch for their runs last night against San Mateo, although Bearcat pitcher Jim Lysgaard was in superb form.

The 'Cat defense was tight, and left Lysgaard in impossible spots — all three of Hillsdale's runs were unearned.

Lysgaard did what he could by himself. He struck out 13 Knights. But that wasn't enough.

Lysgaard had two out in the second when Ed Kertel made first on an error. Kurt Dudley followed with a bloop triple down the right field line to drive Kertel home.

In the third Scott McWhirter singled, but scored on an error. In the fifth, again after Lysgaard had gotten two men out, McWhirter trilped—and scored on an error.

Mike Williamson went the distance for Hillsdale, striking out nine. The stands at Beresford Park were almost full, proving that the experiment in prep night baseball is successful.

It took Burlingame nine innings to beat Mills. The Panthers, who had hitting troubles earlier in the year, came up with three tallies in the top of the ninth and hung on for the win.

Joe Schembri opened with a walk. Terry Freethy followed with a single. Clark Anderson sacrificed Freethy and Schembri to second and third.

Jim Taylor walked and Phil Frederico followed with a sharp two-run single. A sacrifice fly then scored Taylor with the final run of the inning.

Mills came back for a run in the bottom of the ninth. Mike Shirinian scored from second on Kevin Dunne's ground ball.

Aragon knocked Cap out of the running with an early display of hitting that had been lacking at other times this year.

Aragon leadoff hitter Dave Landeck got to first. No sooner had he dusted off his uniform than Myron Stumpf poled the ball over the fence in right field. John Lennon followed with a walk and Dave Robb drove him in with a towering triple to the fence in left-center.

Cap's Mike Biller was the thorn in the side of Aragon pitcher Dan De La Cruz. De La Cruz was sharp; he struck out 11 for the day. But he couldn't get past Biller.

In the fourth Biller hit a shot that left the field about the same place Stumpf's had. Biller also singled to drive in another run in the sixth.

Recreation Pact Okayed By the JESD

By WILL THOMAS

A $55,782 recreation budget was approved, 3-2, by Jefferson Elementary School District trustees in Daly City last week.

The money comes from both a five-cent Civic Center tax and the JESD general fund.

The tax generates about $70,000 for the district, which gives over $95,000 annually to Daly City's Recreation Department.

The budget has become a controversial topic, and for the second straight year Trustees Bill Schumacher and Dorothy Adams dissented.

They said that while they did not want the program eliminated the allocation should only be the funds received from the Civic Center Tax.

Both indicated they favored using the other funds for educational purposes.

Schumacher said he thought the district was overgenerous, since it also provides schoolgrounds, buildings and maintenance. The city hires the personnel and operates the after-school and weekend programs.

He said the board's first obligation was to provide as economically as possible a total educational program.

Mrs. Adams wanted to use some of the funds to provide more noon-time yard supervision.

Joseph Lewkowitz, who attended the meeting only two weeks after suffering a heart seizure and who left the meeting early, strongly urged passage of the measure. Lewkowitz, the City of Daly City treasurer and a longtime trustee, made the motion that was approved.

Trustee Al Collett said the presence of recreation supervisors was a deterrent to vandalism (although Mrs. Adams contended that figures did not indicate that fact).

Chairman Ed Tomasello argued in favor of retaining the full budget, the same as last year's.

He said the tax was originally earmarked specifically for recreation and should be continued.

Tomasello pointed out to Schumacher that the district's playground maintenance expenses would be the same without the city's recreation program.

Mrs. Adams and Schumacher said their beliefs were based on the district's "dire financial straits."

Last year's tax vote—the same as last week's—has become a legal issue.

A group of taxpayers, including Mrs. Beverly Forrester, recently elected to the JESD board, challenged the propriety of Chairman Tomasello's deciding vote in approving the allocation.

They charged a conflict of interest exists.

Tomasello is second in command of the Daly City Recreation Department as superintendent.

The action also attacked the funding of JESD funds above the original contract several years ago.

Associate Supt. Roger Barthult said that recent annual increases have been for salaries, not program expansions—except for the addition of schools to the program.

Mrs. Forrester, joining in the discussion, suggested that the tax might be reduced to two or three cents, and the city asked to levy the rest.

CAPUCHINO'S Mike Biller rounds third base after a fourth inning solo home run against Aragon High Friday. He drove in another run in the sixth, but Aragon won, 6-3. (Post Photo)

Swim Lessons Planned at Jefferson High Pool

Registration for summer swimming classes will be held at 10 a.m. May 22 at the Jefferson High School pool office in Daly City.

The swimming classes will start on June 14, according to Mic Kelley, and will be jointly sponsored by the Jefferson Union High School District and the Golden Gate Chapter of the American Red Cross.

All classes will be one-half hour long, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Each series will be for two weeks, Monday through Friday for the periods commencing June 14, June 28, July 12 and July 25.

A fee of $5 will be charged. Registration will continue each evening, Monday through Thursday from 6:30 7 o'clock.

Bruno Park, Rec Merger Favored

San Bruno's park department, for years under the control of the city's department of public works, soon will be consolidated with the city's recreation department.

Council members in budget study session last week gave approval of this request, recommended by Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen, also the city engineer and head of the public works department.

Under the consolidation, Recreation Superintendent Michael Kiely will head the joint park and recreation department, with present park Superintendent Roy Davis still in charge of that section but reporting to Kiely instead of to Van Dusen.

The change has no effect on the budget, and will be referred to City Attorney Joseph Galligan. It is mainly a title change for Kiely, according to Van Dusen.

Van Dusen told the council members the switch would take various work out of his hands, work that could just as easily be handled by Kiely, and leave him (Van Dusen) time to expend on mounting engineering duties.

Council members split 3-2 as a move not to increase the meetings allocation of the recreation department budget from $400 to $1,000.

Mayor Maurice Hamilton and Councilman Ton Governale favored the $600 increase. A compromise tentative figure of $700 was approved.

Also increased tentatively in the recreation department budget was the building and equipment repair category.

This is up from $3,000 last year to $6,600. The additional money is to be used for painting and finishing of the floor of the gymnasium, as well as replacing several sections of the floor, and maintenance of the heating system. The roof of the gym also will be repaired. Nearly $7,000 has been set aside in the capital improvements fund for this work.

Drag Club to Host Veterans

Turner Motors Mustang and Drag Club will be the host club for the Northern California Conference of Ford drag clubs regional drag meet May 22 at the Champion Speedway.

Wounded Vietnam veterans from Letterman Hosptal Oakland Naval hospital will be guests of the club.

Serra Fifth in WCAC Meet

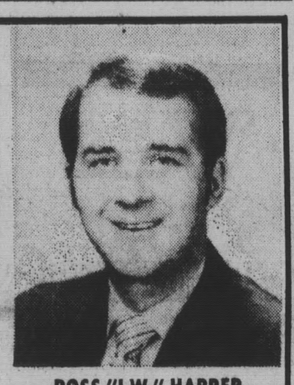

Serra High School could manage only one first place, while St. Ignatius won ten of the 16 events to lead the Wildcats to the West Catholic Athletic League track and field championships at St. Francis High School Saturday night.

The Padres finished fifth in the team scoring with 33 points. St. Ignatius compiled 104 points, followed by St. Francis with 38 and Riordan and Bellarmine with 35 each.

Serra's lone triumph came in the 880 where Jack Wandro scored a 2:01.4 victory over St. Francis' Willet. Serra's Bill Monte and SI's Mark Wildermuth were both timed in 14.8 seconds in the 120 high hurdles, but the judges awarded Wildermuth the victory and placed Monte second. Monte also finished second to Wildermuth in the 180 lows.

Serra's Pat Finn earned himself a spot in the regionals by finishing second to SI's Chris Cole in the varsity 2 mile. The top five places go into the Northern Cal Regionals.

Kosinski's Erudite, Intellectual World

The world of Jerzy Kosinski, the person and writer, is erudite, intellectual, incisive and almost mystical. He left his native Poland on a clever ruse that reads like a movie script only to become an American citizen and just miss being a victim in the Sharon Tate massacre.

His impressive short novel, "Being There" (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc. $4.95), along with his earlier "Steps" that won the 1969 National Book Award for fiction and his first novel, "The Painted Bird," will never be made into movies.

"To date, I've had 14 offers to make 'Being There' into a film and one to make it into a full Broadway musical. Some agencies had the audacity to write their own treatments," the 38-year-old professor of Dramatic prose at the Yale University School of Drama explained over lunch this week.

"I'm an avid movie-goer, so I'm not hostile to the medium. I even learned English by sitting in a 90 cent theater all day with three sandwiches, a flashlight and dictionary in my lap. Matching the words to the action, through three sittings, is the best way.

"I saw 'Barefoot Contessa' 38 times and was greatly encouraged by Rossano Brazzi's terrible Italian accent. From the beginning, I discarded the importance of speech and only learned the language. I figured by becoming a writer, no one would detect my Russian accent."

Although a successful author, Kosinski continues to teach. It gives him a "vicarious sense of growing up with youth in America."

He is a personal, private man, whose humor is both distrubing and brilliant. "Being There" is about a man named Chance who can't read or write, whose only contact with the outside world is his garden and television. With no family, his elderly guardian dead, and not even aware of his own name, this man is hit by a car. Through a bizarre weries of non-sequitu conversations, all moronic metaphors copied from TV, he is catapulted into the world of politics, high finance, and the United Nations.

For image making, it far outshines "The Selling Of The President" in a traumatic, abstract way.

"My books are written in such a fashion it requires the reader to provide his own film. They must illustrate it from their own life. They're not written graphically. To sell them to the film industry would be a total fraud on my part and opposite to what I intended them to mean," he says.

"I like to write, not produce or direct. I don't want to be driven into a conflict of creativity. Right now my ideas are only between me and the dictionary.

He schemed his way out of Warsaw in 1956 at the age of 22 by entering a photographic contest. It was his way of keeping in contact with other lands. The mailing folder had written on it "Do Not Fold" in many different languages and a photo of it appeared in the contest brochure.

Chase Manhattan Bank sent several letters informing him that they had $43 in his name, not for the photographic prize but for the use of his envelope. By manufacturing several professors' names, he convinced the Polish authorities that he had won a Chase Manhattan Bank Foundation Grant, of which none exists. Once free, he never returned.

A slight quirk of fate (or subconscious good planning) also prevented him from being the surest of Roman Polanski, his former schoolmate, in Beverly Hills on that Friday night of mayhem and slaughter.

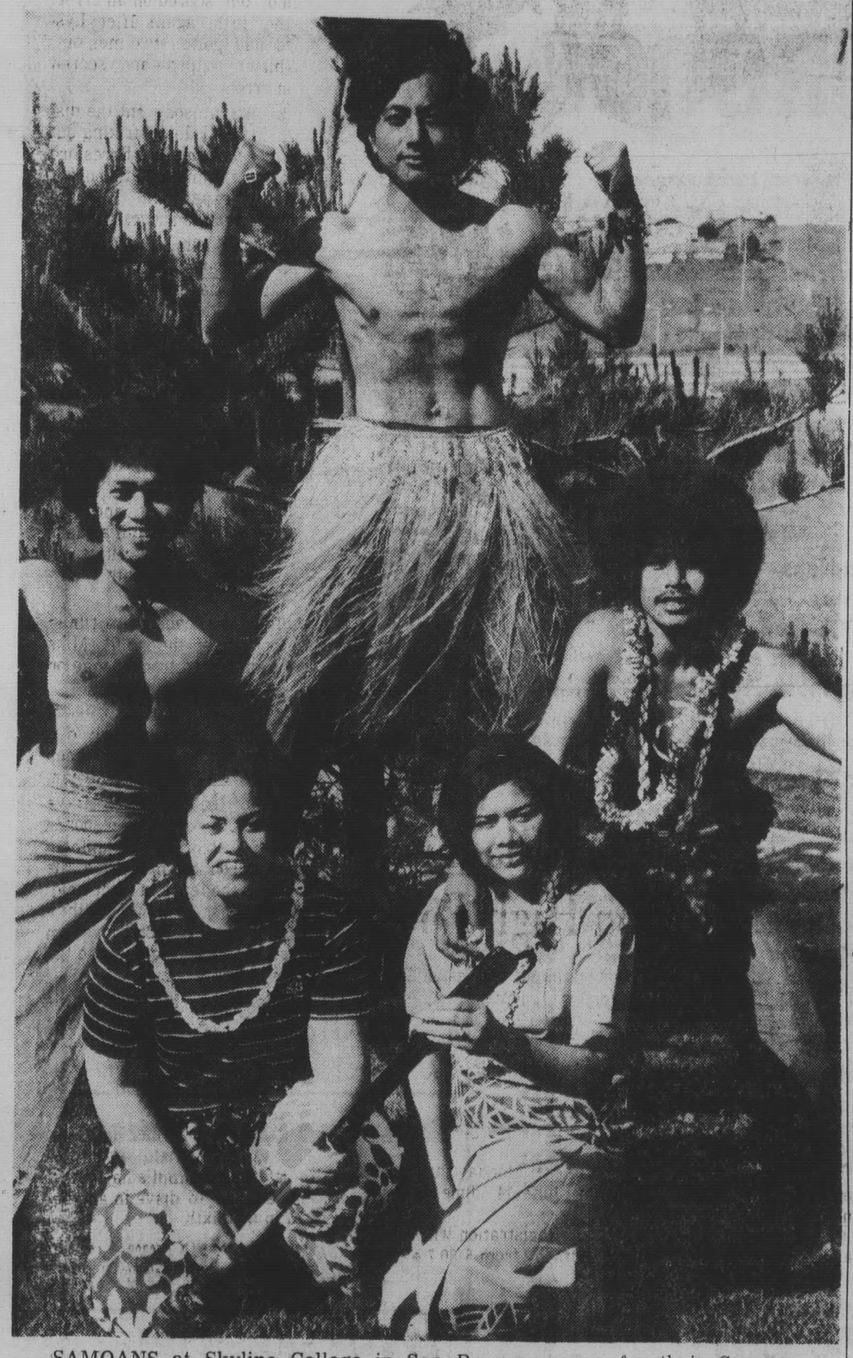

He'd cabled ahead that he'd be there but his baggage was mistakenly routed to New York from Paris and he had to stay over one night to retrieve it. Police found his cable and since the body of Steven Parent, also of slight build, could not be identified immediately it was thought to be that of Kosinski.

"It's terrible to say but I still feel guilty for not being there. Because of our war experiences, the whole thing was like a bomb hitting Roman wiping out his whole life. He doesn't talk about it."

His life has been touched by death before. His American wife recently died of cancer.

"I was most distressed by the way the victims' reputations were ruined. It was as if their way of life brought on violent death. My friend Wojciech Frykowski (one of the victims) could never have taken drugs. He had an ulcer and kidney problems. He didn't even smoke. I introduced him to my student, Abigail Folger, who was helping him learn English.

"The slander was terrible and if I had been slain that night, I hate to think of how they would have searched my books for prophesies or traits by which society could have condemned me too, without knowing me.

Eight Area Girls Seek Teen Queen Title

Eight area lasses have been selected to vie for the 1971 Teen Queen for the second annual "Super Saturday" to be held May 22, at the Martin Luther King Center, 725 Monte Diablo, San Mateo from 11 a.m. 'til 10 p.m.

Super Saturday is a community street fair and festival that will be highlighted by a two-hour parade, an ethnic "food bazaar," which will feature a variety of traditional Japanese, Chinese and Mexican foods, games, raffles, sports contests, exhibits, demonstrations and entertainment — all sponsored by local civic and community organizations in San Mateo.

The eight Teen Queen candidates have been selected from human relations clubs in local high schools in an effort to promote the day's theme of community goodwill, understanding and friendship.

Selected students are Rose Alcantera, 14, of Aragon High; Vanessa Allen, 16, of San Mateo High; Anna Andreoli, 17, of Capuchino High; Sue Cola, 17, of Peninsula High; Vicki Mack, 17, of Notre Dame; Beverley McKinney, 16, of Hillsdale High; Joslyn Overton, 15, of Burlingame High; and Lenee Popyon, 15, of Crestmoor High.

The Teen Queen will be selected on the basis of beauty, grace and talent.

The 1971 Teen Queen will receive a $100 savings bond, gift certificates, and other prizes as well as becoming the Super Saturday representative to other similar contests for the year.

Judges for the contest include San Mateo artist Yvonne Williams, and Dr. James Hutchinson, M.D., of San Mateo and Paul LaRocque, executive editor of The Times.

Publications Banquet Set by Southwood

The fourth annual Southwood Junior High publications banquet will be held May 26 at the New Southern Restaurant, South San Francisco.

Over 113 students, parents and faculty members will attend.

Special awards will be presented to the outstanding members of the Publications Department at Southwood, and a special Publications Award will be presented to an adult who has helped with school publications.

Press Awards will be presented to the students of the department who have helped with the school's publications after normal class time.

The most outstanding student on the staff of the school's paper and yearbook also will be announced.

Mr. William J. Maher, advisor to the school's publications, will present the awards.

False Alarms

Four juveniles, suspected of turning in false fire alarms, were turned over to San Bruno police by firemen yesterday.

Three of the four suspects were caught in the area of Summit and Susan streets, where a box alarm was pulled at 11:17 a.m., according to firemen.

However, the four — their ages ranging from eight to 14 years — were apprehended again when the same box alarm sounded at 8:36 p.m.

Council Backs Younger Proposals

South San Francisco councilmen have endorsed several of the recent legislative proposals of State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger.

Younger has proposed legislation in the areas of criminal justice, environmental control, consumer protection and the rights and obligations of 18-year olds.

Environmental legislation endorsed by the councilmen included:

—Giving the attorney general power to bring legal actions to protect the environment.

—Rigorous motor vehicle noise standards should be set by law.

—Public access to the rivers and streams should be safeguarded.

—No airport should be permitted to expand without prior consideration of environmental effects.

The resolution adopted by the councilmen included these consumer protection endorsements:

—Fradulent auto repair practices should be restricted.

—There should be a three-day "cooling off" period for door-to-door sales.

—The car buyer should be better protected against mileage frauds.

Councilmen also endorsed the proposal that 18-year olds be given all the rights and responsibilities of an adult.

They recommended that the attorney general consult with the state bar and the judicial council of the state regarding these proposals on criminal justice:

—That all defendants in felony trials should be represented by counsel.

—All defendants in capital cases should be represented by certified specialists.

—The incompetent lawyer should be subject to disbarment or suspension.

—Prospective jurors should be examined by the trial judge, or commissioner, rather than by the attorneys in the case.

—The practice of obtaining pre-trial appellete review by extraordinary writs should be restricted.

Federal Money Sought for Water Plant

By BOB PETERSON

First steps were taken last week by South San Francisco councilmen to obtain 80 per cent federal and state financing for a $3 million sanitation plant expansion and outfall line.

Consultant John Jenks outlined his proposal that would mean South San Francisco would pay $420,000 and San Bruno $175,000.

San Bruno councilmen were on hand at the special meeting at South San Francisco city hall. The cities have a joint investment in the waste water treatment plant in South San Francisco.

Jenks said he would be submitting his proposal to the Regional Water Quality Control Board (RWQCB) next week. He called his plan a strategic consolidation.

The council authorized Jenks to submit the proposal and asked the city engineer to prepare a report on the city's waste discharge.

Under the Jenks plan, the South San Francisco-San Bruno plant would include Merck Chemical Company and San Francisco International Airport in one joint outfall line 5000 feet offshore into Bay waters 15 feet deep.

Initial requirements of the RWQCB suggested a single regional hookup including the Guadalupe Valley Municipal Improvement District and the cities of Millbrae and Burlingame.

Jenks said that because of the location of Guadalupe Valley MID — three miles away from the South San Francisco plant but within 300 feet of the Bayshore Sanitary District that pumps into San Francisco — any consolidation should be with San Francisco. The Guadalupe Valley district serves Brisbane and Crocker lands.

Inclusion of Burlingame and Millbrae in a single outfall line was ruled out, Jenks said, because two points of discharge will make no more of an ecological impact than one.

He said the inclusion of the two cities would mean an extra cost of approximately $1 million to them, while reducing the cost for South San Francisco and San Bruno only about $400,000.

Jenks said Merck Chemical Company has indicated it would join in the stragetic consolidation but the airport has been discussing construction of its own outfall to the Bay.

Should both join with the South San Francisco plant the airport would pay $188,000 for additional costs and Merck would pay $176,000. These would by tying-in costs, not eligible for fund sharing by state or federal agencies and would not reduce costs for South San Francisco and San Bruno.

Jenks said cost of expanding the plant is estimated at $1,150,000 of the $3 million total cost.

Jenks' study began approximately one year ago in efforts to avoid the "building ban" that hit San Francisco. This resulted from the RWQCB prohibiting new sewer construction in San Francisco until the Bay is relatively pollution free.

Under the new discharge requirements the RWQCB will not accept full tertiary treatment without an extension of an outfall line.

The South San Francisco plant is a partial secondary treatment plant. Upgrading to full secondary treatment and constructing an outfall would meet RWQCB stndards and mean 80 per cent federal and state financing, according to Jenks.

He said the plant is big enough. The problem is water quality.

Jenks said he sees an ultimate reclamation program with whatever water is not re-used run back into the Bay. He suggested industry, irrigation, and water management programs could make a reclamation plan work.

Westborough Project Done

South San Francisco councilmen Wednesday night accepted completion by Contractor L.C. Smith of Westborough Boulevard work but withheld most of the remaining payment due the firm.

The city has already paid the firm some $265,000, leaving a balance of $102,000. Of this $102,000, the city is now retaining all but an approximate $16,000.

Councilmen adopted a resolution spelling out the reasons and itemizing the amounts of retention. They include such things as street cleaning, liquidation for damages, engineering fee claims and satisfying claims of subcontractors.

The work on Westborough Boulevard, west of Junipero Serra, began November 3, 1969. The city claims the project completion is 105 working days overdue.

Burglarized

Joseph J. Cabell, of 3025 Dublin Avenue, South San Francisco, reported to police that someone pried open his sliding glass door Thursday and escaped with a $500 color television.

Millbrae Players to Present 'Androcles and the Lion'

The Millbrae Players, one of the San Francisco Bay Area's oldest theater companies, opened its new production, "Androcles and the Lion" by George Bernard Shaw, Friday. The production is directed by John Rechtfertig and is the 143rd play presented by the group in its 32 years of existence.

"Androcles and the Lion" was written by Shaw in 1912, the same year he produced "Pygmalion." Shaw, in his epilogue to the play, wrote: "In this play I have presented one of the Roman persecutions of the early Christians, not as the conflict of a false theology with a true, but as what all such persecutions essentially are; an attempt to suppress a propaganda that seemed to threaten the interests involved in the established law and order ... Therefore my martyrs are the martyrs of all time, and my persecutors the persecutors of all time. ..."

The production features Boyd Thompson of San Bruno in the title role of the beleaguered Greek tailor, Androcles, with Pamela Colton of San Francisco as the very unusual lion. Joel Pownall and Kathleen McIntyre of Daly City play the Roman captain and the Christian girl whose love must bridge the gap between their beliefs. Others in the large cast include Lois Lazich, Jeff Colton, Bob Kotta, Russ Gustafsen, Jeff Cohen, Rob Jenson and Stuart McIntyre.

"Androcles and the Lion" will be performed Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 in the Player' Theatre at 255 Broadway in Millbrae.

"The Magic Lamp," an original fantasy for children by former Peninsula high school teacher, Richard Ramos, will continue on Sundays at 2.

Celebration Set

Brisbane has scheduled its Western Days annual celebration for the week of June 5 through June 13 this year.

The week will start with the Miss Brisbane beauty contest Saturday night at the Lipman School auditorium followed by a reception at the new Teen Center.

Skyline Corridor Values Up

Being in the Skyline Scenic Corridor has not adversely affected the value of properties there, according to County Assessor Jack Estes.

The report was received as the County Board of Supervisors scheduled a public hearing on a corridor grading ordinance for 3 p.m. May 25.

A review of sales of corridor land showed, Estes said, that values have continued to climb during the five years the corridor has existed.

"Assessments within the corridor are being increased periodically," the assessor said, "to reflect increasing values."

'Water Fun'

"WATER FUN," "Gypsy" and "Troop Camper" badges were earned by the girls of Girl Scout Troop 476 at a recent outing at Camp Bothin in Marin County.

The Junior Girls were assisted at their outing, paid for by troop cookie sales, by their leader, Mrs. Fred Stewart and Cadette Aides Jane Stewart and Elizabeth Wilberg.

Blaze Hits Apartment

South San Francisco firemen blamed overheated, exploding aeresol cans for a fire that damaged a garage and a car early Thursday.

Damage to the apartment building at 1019 Grand Avenue and the small, foreign-made car was estimated at $4,000 by fire officials.

Firemen said several pressurized cans had been placed to close to a water heater. The 12:20 a.m. fire burned through the garage door and began burning an exterior wall.

A half-hour later, a pickup truck and camper were destroyed by flames at an apartment complex at 208-210 Holly.

The vehicle, owned by Ruth Wilhelsen, the apartment complex manager, was parked in a carport beneath an apartment unit.

A small, foreign-made car also was damaged, and paint on the carport blistered, firemen said.

Damage was estimated at $1350 by fire officials.

"We Put You In Our Shoes"

After all . . . our salesmen and staff are people, just like yourselves. People with families, children in school and faced with the burdens of providing. Nobody has money to throw away. Our people have this in mind when discussing the purchases of a new or used car with a customer. They treat people the way they like to be treated . . . listen to the problems and questions and honestly do their very best to arrive at the best possible deal. This may be one reason why we see so many of the same folks coming back to us again . . . and bringing friends and relatives. The Golden Rule is a way of life here . . . And it works.
